First of Children in Fayette County Get Anti-Polio Shots

LINED UP PATIENTLY WAITING for their inoculations of the new Salk polio vaccine are some of the 67 first and second graders at Good Hope who received their shots Wednesday morning. (Record-Herald photos)

More than 500 boys and girls in the first and second grades of the Fayette County elementary schools got their first anti-polio shots of Salk vaccine... and you have the word of the nurses and doctors and teachers that "they were just wonderful."

Jimmy Mastin is believed to have been the first child in the county to get the vaccine. It was just about 9 o'clock when Dr. N. M. Reiff, president of the Fayette County Medical Association, gave him his first shot. Assisting him were the nurses, Mrs. Ruth Wientjes of the Health Department and Mrs. Juanita Hill.

There were a few yells and a few brave grins, but for the most part the youngsters were grimly serious — until they walked away from the doctor, they they just beamed with pride and strutted with nonchalance.

These shots were given without charge; the Infantile Paralysis Foundation paid the bill for the vaccine and the physicians, administered it with the help of nurses and teachers and mothers on their own time.

Boys and girls in the first and second grades of the Washington C. H. Schools will get their first shots Thursday morning.

Then on May 18 and 19, all these children will get their second shots. Whether they will get a third shot in seven months to a year, as originally planned, is still somewhat obscure. However, indications now are that the second shots May 18 and 19 will complete the inoculation process.

The doctors and nurses were loud in their praise of the help they got from the teachers and the volunteer helpers (most women from the PTO groups). They said the teachers had built up the morale of the children, built up their courage, to the place where few even so much as flinched.

Parents of a few went to the schools to see their youngsters vaccinated. One of the nurses commented: "...and usually it was these boys and girls who pucker up when their turns came."

While the boys and girls waiting their turns were not taken too close to the place where the others were being vaccinated, few of them paid much attention to what was going on; they appeared to have complete confidence in the doctors and the nurses.

The inoculations did not take long. For example the shots were given to 137 at Bloomingburg in just a few minutes over an hour.

There was a reward for their bravery, too. At Good Hope they were given balloons and a sucker; at Bloomingburg they got suckers and bubble gum and at Jeffersonville they got suckers.

The pupils of the Chaffin, Wilson and Eber schools in Union Township got their shots in the afternoon at the Chaffin School.

Three vaccination centers were to be set up for the city school youngsters: at the Eastside, Sunnyside and Central schools. Boys and girls of the Rose Avenue and Cherry Hill schools are to go to Central for their shots.

At the Jeffersonville center 142 children were inoculated. Eighty of these youngsters were from Jeffersonville school, 16 from Book-walter and 46 from Milledgeville.

The Jeffersonville center team was made up of Dr. Hugh W. Payton; nurses Jean Coe and Corrine Sperry; teachers Miss Helen Fultz, Miss Avis Bockstahler, Mrs. Dar-

Divorce Hinges On Wife's Weight

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Korzen, 42, says his divorce suit will be withdrawn if his 190-pound wife Lillian, 43, will reduce. His lawyer told Judge Cornelius Harrington: "If Mrs. Korzen will diet down to 125 pounds, this marriage can be saved. Korzen says if that's too tough he'll even settle for 140 pounds." The hearing was continued until Mrs. Korzen decides whether she'll reduce.

U. S. Willing To Talk Truce To Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States is willing to confer alone with Red China regarding a Formosa area cease-fire, but not on matters affecting Nationalist China.

Backing up the position of Secretary of State Dulles, the President told a news conference it may have been a bit of an overstatement for the United States to say last Saturday that it would "insist on free China's participation as an equal in any discussion" concerning the Formosa area.

The State Department put out such a statement when Red China offered to negotiate with the U. S. to relax the tension in the Formosa area.

Dulles told a news conference yesterday, however, that the United States is willing to negotiate with Communist China regarding a possible cease-fire in the Formosa Strait.

He emphasized, however, that this government would not deal alone with Red China on any matters concerning the Chiang Kai-shek Nationalist regime.

EARLIER TODAY, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), a strong backer of the Chinese Nationalists, endorsed a move for face-to-face talks with the Red Chinese on a possible Formosa area truce.

Smith, a Foreign Relations committee member, said he thinks Dulles took the right tack yesterday in announcing the United States is exploring the possibility of such discussions.

Dulles' statement was received with approval in London and Paris official quarters. But at Taipei, a Nationalist spokesman voiced disappointment, saying: "We strongly believe that any contact with the Reds will be fruitless."

Smith said "I think we should be willing to sit down and talk with the Communist Chinese on the question of obtaining a straight cease-fire."

"In any question where property is involved, the Nationalists must be represented," he added. "I think this country is in the mood to stop the killing now."

Smith said he thought Dulles had drawn an "important distinction" between cease-fire and other talks in saying this country intends to try to find out if Red China's premier was sincere in proposing a two-nation conference to seek relaxation of Far East tensions.

Yesterday, Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Foreign Relations Committee said he "wouldn't lose the opportunity" to sit down with the Chinese Communists to discuss present tensions even if the Nationalists weren't represented.

Crime Expert Says Dr. Sam Is Innocent

Left-Handed Attacker Bitten On Hand By Victim, Prof Claims

CLEVELAND (AP) — A laboratory expert contended in court today that Marilyn Sheppard's killer was a left-handed sex attacker who was bitten on the hand. A drop of blood from the slayer's hand was smeared on a door in her bedroom, he said.

Dr. Paul L. Kirk, professor of criminalistics at the University of California, made these points in an affidavit presented in common pleas court.

Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 31-year-old Bay Village osteopath, was convicted last Dec. 21 of bludgeoning his pregnant wife Marilyn to death in their home on July 4. A jury found him guilty of murder in the second degree, and he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Dr. Kirk said flatly that Sheppard is innocent.

Sheppard is seeking a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence. The trial judge, Edward Blythin, presided at today's hearing on the motion for new trial.

Also pending is an appeal from Sheppard's conviction, on the ground of trial errors and a claim the evidence was not sufficient for conviction. The appellate court will conduct a hearing May 25.

DR. KIRK SPENT several days in the Sheppard home last January and concluded his investigations in his West Coast laboratory. His affidavit contained 33 pages of text and 17 pages of appendices.

The affidavits show two blood stains were removed from a wardrobe door in Mrs. Sheppard's bedroom by Dr. Virgil Hays, pathologist at Bay View Hospital where the defendant practiced.

They were sent to Dr. Kirk for analysis and one of them proved to be of extreme importance.

Dr. Kirk's affidavit said a one-inch blood stain from the door belonged to neither of the Sheppards.

The slaying began as an attempt to attack Mrs. Sheppard sexually, said Dr. Kirk.

The defendant testified he grappled with a bushy haired intruder and twice was knocked out. The criminologist said blood spattered found in the Sheppard bedroom, and the pattern of blows on the victim's skull were such as to prove a left-handed person was the slayer. Dr. Sheppard is right handed.

From the spacing and nature of the wounds, it was deduced the murder weapon was a metal object about 12 inches long, such as a flashlight, Dr. Kirk said.

At the trial, the state presented no murder weapon.

Tooth fragments were found under the body. Dr. Kirk said his research showed they were broken by an outward yank, indicating Mrs. Sheppard had closed her teeth on an attacker's hand. Dr. Sheppard's hands bore no wound.

In the hearing for new trial, the state will insist Sheppard's chief defense counsel, William J. Corrigan, bring in "new facts, rather than new theories based on old facts." Saul S. Danaceau, assistant Cuyahoga County prosecutor, declared.

CORRIGAN SAID he would produce affidavits from five persons, including Dr. Kirk.

"Dr. Kirk is the main one," Corrigan said, referring to the nationally known crime expert who flew here from Berkeley, Calif.

Kirk was hired to make an independent investigation.

Fabb and Perrill Named Trustees Of Eyman Estate

Willard H. Perrill, prominent farmer of the Devalon Road, and Charles A. Fabb, Fayette County treasurer and farmer, were Wednesday named trustees of Jesse Eyman estate, succeeding the late Valdo R. McCoy.

The appointments were made by Probate Judge Robert L. Brubaker in accordance with terms of the Eyman will, which created the trusteeship and provided that two trustees be named to succeed Valdo R. McCoy who died recently.

Judge Brubaker fixed the preliminary bonds of the two trustees at $100,000 and they are to take up their duties as soon as they qualify.

McCoy had held the trusteeship for 27 years.

Judge Brubaker selected Fabb and Perrill for the trustees after interviewing each of the nine applicants for the position. He spent most of Tuesday afternoon talking with them and announced his appointments Wednesday morning.

Judge Brubaker has ordered an inventory of the entire Eyman estate be filed as soon as possible. The estate is valued at $500,000 or more.

THE ESTATE consists of approximately 1,300 acres of good land, well improved, and stocks and bonds with par value of around $125,000 and thousands of dollars worth of farm equipment, livestock, etc.

The stocks and bonds include many government bonds and stock in such enterprises as Cities Service, Master Tire and Rubber Co., Wellbeck Mf. Co., Republic Steel Corp., Sherrin-Williams & Co., etc.

Last year the income from the stocks and bonds was $8,435.47, and income from the farm was $44,095.15 with $27,636.74 expenses.

Since work of the trustees is only part time, County Treasurer Fabb will continue his duties as treasurer and Perrill will continue his usual farm activities.

In making the appointments, Judge Brubaker fixed no salaries, but when the annual accounting of the trustees is presented, they will present their claim for services rendered, which will be passed upon by Judge Brubaker.

Income from the estate, after expenses are deducted, is distributed chiefly to charity, as provided in the will of Jesse Eyman.

The amount distributed has been exceeding $20,000 per year for many years. During the past year the distribution reached approximately $25,000.

Financial Aid For Farmers Is Sought by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower called today for a "many-sided attack" on the problems of low-income farmers.

"We must open wider the doors of opportunity to our million and a half farm families with extremely low incomes—for their own well-being and for the good of our country and all our people," he said in a special message to Congress.

The message transmitted recommendations by Secretary of Agriculture Benson which the President said had his "general approval." It urged, among other things, 30 million of lending authority and strengthening of off-farm employment opportunities for farmers barely able to make ends meet.

Benson's proposals were based on a study requested by the President more than a year ago. The President also sent Congress a report on this study, saying it emphasizes the long-range nature of the problem and that it would serve to stimulate continuing study and action.

Eisenhower told Congress "an immediate start is extremely important." He said in a nation where per capita income is the highest in the world, more than one fourth of the farm families still have cash incomes of less than $1,000 a year.

Part of the assistance program would require new legislation. The President said requests for this and for necessary appropriations will go to Congress shortly.

Sen. Aiken of Vermont, one of the Republican senators who got a preview of the administration proposals, said "very little new legislation" would be required to put the program into operation.

Some sharp debate was heard yesterday in the Senate as it passed by voice vote an annual agricultural appropriation that would allow spending of more than 1.4 billion during the fiscal year that begins July 1.

By a 76-5 margin, Sen. Williams (R-Del) lost an effort to clip $5 million from a $250 million authorization for federal conservation payments to farmers on 1956 crops.

The farm money bill now moves back to the House, which previously passed a version containing some 4 million less cash. A Senate-House conference committee will adjust differences.

Soviet Defense Chief's Notes Held Secret

But President Sees Hope For Improved U. S. Russ Relations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower disclosed today he has been in private correspondence with Soviet Defense Minister Zhukov within the past three weeks. He said the correspondence holds out some slim hope of betterment in American-Soviet relations.

Eisenhower told of the correspondence at a news conference, and said he has a feeling world peace prospects are on the upswing.

Eisenhower said it is also possible, however, to balance every encouraging development — such as Russia's willingness to agree on an Austrian peace treaty — with an adverse development, such as the Red Chinese air buildup in the vicinity of Formosa.

He said that at this time he sees no reason for a meeting between himself and the British, French and Russian heads of state as a result of the Austrian treaty negotiations. But he said such a meeting is always possible.

SECRETARY of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay have scheduled a meeting May 8 in Paris to discuss a Soviet meeting.

Eisenhower declined to give details of his correspondence with Zhukov until the Soviet government official gives the word.

Eisenhower and Zhukov became well acquainted during occupation days in Berlin immediately after the defeat of Germany in World War II.

At that time, Zhukov once made plans (never carried through) to visit the United States. At a news conference last February, Eisenhower was asked whether he might now extend a new invitation to the Russian. He called it an idea worth considering.

Today, in the talk about Eisenhower's correspondence with Zhukov, the President was asked specifically about a published report that he asked Zhukov to intervene to seek the release of American airmen imprisoned by Red China.

The President replied he was not at liberty to discuss the contents of the correspondence exchange. He added that he would not want to be a party to possibly jeopardizing any world betterment that might flow from the exchange. He described the exchange as personal and confidential, and added that it would be up to Zhukov as to whether it should be made public.

The report of the correspondence was published by Newsweek Magazine which said Zhukov initiated it.

POLITICS — The President touched off a round of laughter when he said that on V-E day marking the end of the war in Europe 10 years ago next month, he thought that he had reached the end of his career. With a somewhat wistful smile, Eisenhower added that he envisioned peaceful days of retirement on his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., but that retirement there still seems to be a long way off.

Thinking they may have unearthed a clue to a presidential decision to seeking a second term next year, newsmen laughed.

The President joined in the laughter, then remarked that at his age, 21 months—the length of the remainder of his first term—still seems like a long time.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

It will be of more than passing interest to me to attend on Saturday, April 30, the formal dedication of the Henry Clyde Shetrone Hall of Ohio Archaeology when the Ohio Historical Society holds its 70th annual meeting at the Ohio Museum.

The hall will house many of the prehistoric Indian exhibits to which Shetrone, for many years state archaeologist and later director of the Ohio Historical Society, made many notable contributions.

Shetrone had been a personal friend of mine for a quarter of a century and I had been with him when he made some of his most notable discoveries in the Seip Mound and others. He died Nov. 23, 1954, after having served the Historical Society for 33 years.

One of his most notable contributions to archaeology was his book "The Mound Builder," published in 1930 and for which I supplied several photographs. I have an autographed copy of the book.

I am glad to see the noted archaeologist honored by naming a hall dedicated in his memory.

Several notables, including scientists from the Smithsonian Institution, Washington D. C. and the United States National Museum, will be present for the occasion. Gov. Frank J. Lausche will be a speaker at the meeting.

FFA Sets Budget, Plans for Contests

Members of the WHS chapter of Future Farmers of America set up their 1955-56 budget at their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the high school.

Other important business included planning for the state livestock and soil judging contests to be held June 3 and 4. The chapter here will send teams for both contests.

David Whiteside, chairman of the committee set up to choose a theme for the Fair booth, offered four suggestions of the four members whose farm was chosen.

A highpoint of the evening was the installation of new officers, with both the old and new officers taking part.

The 25 boys present at the meeting elected a pair of alternates to represent the chapter of the Junior Fair Board if one of the regular members should be absent. Oscar Glass and David Dray were chosen.

Also selected were members of a committee to handle attendance during the coming school year. Members are David Whiteside, chairman; John Rhoad, Roger McLean and Roger Sollars.

Final item on the agenda was discussion of a "chain" gift. Members decided to accept the gift of a gift from Jack Kellough. The gift will be given to a member who will in turn pass on two more gifts to other members from the first litter.

Speaker Talks On "Bloodless Head-Hunting"

George Robinson Jr. Tells Rotary Club About Family Histories

George Robinson, Jr., who for many years has diligently pursued his special hobby of genealogy, checking on family histories and tracing ancestors and family names, proved a very entertaining speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday at the County Club.

Presented by the day's program chairman, Dr. I. L. Pumphrey, the speaker talked at length on the subject of "Bloodless Head-Hunting," explaining the pleasure to be derived in checking on the forebears of many people in this community and others who had sought his help and experience.

ROBINSON'S remarks proved highly interesting to those in his audience; he selected name after name among those present and disclosed historical references relative to their ancestors.

He stated that Ohio, is perhaps the most typically mixed up "melting pot" of any of our states with reference to names. He mentioned family names as Brandenburg, Dice, Fogle, Gerstner, Haigler, Himmelsbach, Campbell, McDonald, Carpenter and others, briefly tracing their lineage, religious connections and other matters of interest back into immigrant days.

He told how to go about this "head-hunting" for those who wish to delve into family history, explaining that many times it required countless interviews with old inhabitants, checking family Bibles, diaries, newspapers, court and church records, family letters and even visiting old cemeteries to inspect tomb-stones. He declared that curiosity could prove a great asset because the more one probed into history of some name, his enthusiasm increased.

THE FAMILY NAMES of Creamer, Carr, Johnson, Stookey, Allen, Cline came into his talk and he mentioned some personal experiences in checking upon names at the request of various people.

Robinson's remarks presented a different type of program from anything the Rotarians here had enjoyed in years and he was accorded the closest attention.

President George Finley in thanking him said that here again was another example of how a local speaker could present a subject often times more interesting than many an outside speaker could offer.

During the pre-program business session of the club Walter Patton introduced the newest student guest Lyle Self. The outgoing student who has been present during the past two weeks, Micheal Boylan gave a short talk in expressing his appreciation in being a club guest.

President Finley called attention to some extensive publicity received by Paul Dougherty and W. W. Montgomery in the last issue of the Farm Journal, an agricultural publication with wide coverage. The feature about Dougherty, accompanied by his picture showing his genial grin, was in connection with work in this rural district being done by the Bell Telephone Company.

The only Rotarian to receive a birthday greeting at this meeting was Walter Patton, who stood to hear the customary greeting song and incidentally to pay the usual fee to the club's youth fund.

DURING THE group singing, the director, William Clift, unexpectedly called Rev. Clinton Swengel, Colin Campbell and a club guest, Harry Thraikill, to stand and join him in a quartet selection which was roundly applauded.

The only visiting Rotarian at this meeting was Rev. Sanford Lindsey of London. Other guests were George A. Robinson, Sr., father of the day's program speaker and a charter member of the Washington Rotary Club. He was brought to the meeting by Frank Jackson. Harry Thraikill was the guest of Max Lawrence and Attorney Rollo Marchant was with Atty. Edmond Woodmansee.

There were 1,728 U. S. deaths caused by floods between 1934 and 1954 of which 1,153 came in the first half of the period and only 575 in the second half.

EVER COUNT 2,200 EGGS? That's what Miss Jane Jefferson (seated) and Mrs. Dana Hyer are setting out to do. They expect that many eggs to be served at the nurse's breakfast Saturday morning in the American Legion Hall. Members of the purchasing Committee, they are Mrs. Richard Patton and Mrs. Ray Coe are responsible for seeing that everybody goes away well filled. In addition to the 150 dozen eggs, they need to arrange for the purchase of 125 lbs. of ham and the same amount of sausage. Also on the menu will be fruit juice, all the coffee the breakfasters can drink, hotcakes, rolls, butter and jams and jellies. Some of the food is being contributed, but it is up to the four-nurse committee to see that enough of everything is on hand Saturday.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)

We are continuing today the session of the Board of Education's policies dealing with the miscellaneous regulations for teachers:

Section 6.12 Continuing Contracts: To be eligible for a continuing contract, a teacher must be a graduate of a four year course in an approved teacher training institution, hold an Ohio professional, permanent, or life teaching certificate and have completed at least three years of successful teaching in the Washington Court House City Schools. If the teacher held a continuing contract elsewhere in Ohio, he may become eligible for a continuing contract after two years of teaching in the Washington Court House City Schools. When certain deficiencies exist, even though a teacher has otherwise become eligible for a continuing contract, the teacher shall be notified of such deficiencies by the superintendent of schools as confirmed by the board on or before April 30th and shall be placed on a probationary basis for a period not to exceed two years.

Section 6.13 Termination of Contract: No teacher shall be permitted to terminate his contract after the tenth day of July of any school year, or during the school year prior to the termination of the annual session, without the consent of the Board of Education. A teacher is permitted to terminate his contract at any other time by giving five day written notice to the Board of Education.

Section 6.14 Dismissal: In the dismissal of teachers the superintendent shall notify the teacher of non-reappointment prior to April 30, in the case of teachers on limited contracts. In recommending dismissal of teachers on continuing contracts, the superintendent will follow the procedure required by law under the Ohio Teacher Tenure Act.

Section 6.15 Payment when Contract is not Fulfilled: Any Teacher leaving the employ of the Board of Education before the expiration of his contract shall be paid for the days actually taught. This payment is to be computed upon the daily rate, which is the annual salary divided by the number of days in the school year.

Section 6.17 Physical Examination: The superintendent may at anytime require of a teacher a certificate from a physician that he or she is physically and mentally qualified to continue efficiently the duties of a teacher in the Washington Court House Schools. The examination may be made by the teacher's own physician, but the board of education reserves the right to request that it be made by a physician designated by the board. If, when required, such a certificate is not secured, the teacher shall be considered ineligible for reappointment and shall be duly notified in writing. The expense of the examination made by the physician designated by the board of education shall be paid by the board.

Section 6.18 Extra-curricular activities: All teachers are expected to participate in and assume a reasonable amount of responsibility for such extra-curricular activities of the schools as shall be determined by the administration to be an essential part of the school program.

Section 6.19 Tardiness: Frequent tardiness of teachers shall be cause for loss of pay, according to the seriousness of the violation.

Section 6.20 Criticism of teachers: Teachers shall not be corrected or criticized under any circumstances, in the presence of pupils or patrons.

Section 6.21 Dismissal of Classes: Teachers shall be required to keep their classes in session during school hours and shall not dismiss them for any reason without the consent of the principal or superintendent of schools. Classes shall be dismissed promptly at the time set.

Union Makes Use Of Money As New Weapon

In connection with the recent "show-down" annual meeting of the stockholders of the Montgomery Ward organization business, a rather significant new Union weapon came in for some attention and comment.

It appears that some of the unions are using their large surplus funds to buy stock in some companies so as to be able to sit in upon elections and decisions of management. The unions apparently are gradually planning to be represented on both sides of the table.

Dave Beck, who seems to control the Teamsters' Union treasury funds, attracted attention in his move not long ago in using union funds to buy 13,500 shares of Ward stock. When the crucial time approached to vote this stock in the recent fight for control of the company, Beck played his cards smartly.

There was a time when Ward was so resistant to unions that one or more of its stores closed rather than sign a contract with a union.

Beck had been reportedly trying to negotiate a contract with Ward on a national basis and wasn't getting anywhere. It looked as if a strike would have to be called. But when Beck bought the stock he had a new weapon.

Ward's management has been engaged in a hot and heavy battle with a man named Louis Wolfson who is trying to seize control of the company.

The present management which won out in the recent meeting, at least temporarily, needs every shareholder it can get on its side. So when Beck showed up suddenly with 13,500 shares of stock, promising to vote those shares for present management if they would sign his contract, Ward signed. Buying the stock was cheaper for Beck than running a strike.

The agreement covers 15,000 warehouse employees of Ward across the nation. It calls for the teamsters to increase their holdings of Ward stock to 100,000 shares, all of which are to be voted in opposition to Wolfson. Thus here is a situation where a union helps to choose its employer.

More than a few are worried that this may be a forerunner of other moves by wealthy unions to use their capital as a means of influencing negotiations. The worriers include union leaders who don't like the idea of a union possibly negotiating against itself at the bargaining table.

Clasped Hands Now Fists

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — The great fact of history 10 years after American and Russian soldiers shook hands gingerly on the River Elbe is that both sides now are shaking fists at each other.

The Allies whose handclasp in comradeship then sealed the doom of Adolf Hitler's ideology are now separated by mutually expressed doubts and fears. They say our ideology threatens them, and we say their ideology threatens us.

The dismal regret in the long view of time is that the wartime unity of the two greatest hemispheric powers has evaporated in a tug-of-war.

For the brief moment of that handclasp at Torgau there was one world, one common victory. All the blood and sweat and tears it cost were repaid in a splendid brief second.

And then everybody on both sides went back to being himself and there were two worlds. There have been two big worlds ever since.

Looking back across this crowded decade, I suppose it is wistfully foolish to think that one moment of unity could last forever. But surely all wars that end in a handclasp of strange allies must carry with it the hope in the tired hearts of all. "This is the last one. Surely now there won't be another."

I was among a group of war correspondents who covered the grand linkup meeting of the American and Russian armies at the Elbe.

It was sad then, and it is sad now to recall, how the purpose that had made us one disappeared day by day in the harsh discoveries of the differences between us.

We were an army that ate our own sanitary packages and dehydrated food and we moved in the vehicles that our own people back home had built for us.

The Russians moved across Germany like locusts, living on the land as they traveled, taking whatever they needed. They took bread from this house, a horse from this farmer, a wagon here, a car there.

They were people two generations behind the Americans in every way but one. Each soldier carried a modern snub-nosed multi-fire weapon. He was a hobo in a dirty baggy suit, but he had firepower, the firepower that had destroyed numerous but better-trained German army.

When we met, we met warily. I suppose the average Russian soldier's first thought on seeing the first American soldier was,

"This guy looks pretty much like another German."

And I do recall a young officer saying after his first disbelieving sight of the Russians swarming across the landscape: "Is this a riot or an army?"

But we shook hands, and broke bread and beans, drank long draughts of whatever spirit was in their bottles or the German countryside provided, and trusted each other enough to hand our weapons back and forth.

It was all done with friendly gesture and sign and pantomime, the eternal language of strangers. The war was done and we were one together.

What a brief high cliff of world goodwill we stood on! Such a peak of ecstasy! But when the bread had been broken, the wine drunk, and the relief of victory and weariness slept off, we woke up.

Ivan Ivanovich and GI Joe looked at each other and realized one was a Russian soldier and one was an American soldier, and that men may be men but armies are armies.

There was a gap between us in a new cold world. And the gap remains, despite the exultant handshake that linked our hearts and goals on the River Elbe.

He's Master Of Fine Art Of Lying

By George Sokolsky

Harvey Matusow is a self-admitted liar and boasts both his ability and his capacity. Not being a psychiatrist, I cannot testify as to his conduct but take it for granted that all men are somewhat peculiar and Harvey very much so.

Harvey has now set himself up as an expert in lying and may open an office some day to advise those who require guidance in the art for a fee. He might even become famous as the first man who lied with pride, lied with joy in his heart, testified on how perfect a liar he is under oath before a Congressional committee and in a court of law. Why the committee listens to him after he swore that he had perjured himself is difficult to grasp, but suppose that a record must be made for posterity.

Matusow and his mentors have decided that he must not stand alone; so, he is trying hard to drag Roy Cohn down with him. The reason: Cohn helped to send the Rosenbergs to the electric chair; he helped to send William Remington to prison; he exposed the espionage cell in the United Nations, etc., etc. The way to get even with Cohn is to try to make him look like Matusow. So Matusow is set up as a liar and Cohn is made to be associated with him to establish guilt by propinquity.

In a brief which the United States Attorney in New York, J. Edward Lumbard, presented to the court in the case of United States v. Elizabeth Gurley Flynn et al. appears the answer to Matusow's allegations concerning Cohn. In fact, Judge Edward Dimock upholds, in his decision in the case this point of view: "According to Matusow, Cohn then began developing the false testimony with respect to the conversation with Trachtenberg. Matusow is uncertain as to when this false testimony was finally worked out in the form in which he testified, but he claims that the matter of the book and his conversation with Trachtenberg was discussed on numerous occasions with Cohn in the presence of other members of the prosecution staff and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation."

"It has not been conclusively established that Matusow's contentions with respect to this portion of his testimony are falsehoods from first to last."

Further the brief says: "Matusow's statements that Cohn and other members of the prosecution staff knowingly or otherwise assisted him in preparation of allegedly false testimony concerning a conversation with Trachtenberg relating to the 'Law of the Soviet State' by Vinkinsky are wholly belied both by the sworn testimony of all those who were at any time charged with his trial preparation as well as by contemporary documents dictated during the course of his preparation."

"This monstrous accusation that the testimony regarding Trachtenberg and 'Law of the Soviet State' was fabricated and masterminded by members of the prosecution staff, one of the main points relied upon by the defendants at this hearing, now shown to be a complete falsehood, so permeates the Matusow hearing testimony as to render all of it absolutely incredible."

Again, Matusow is shown to make false statements concerning Cohn.

Matusow claims that he first formulated the testimony with respect to this conversation with Charney (a defendant), which now claims is false, on February 17, 1952 during a lengthy meeting with Cohn. The fact of the matter is that he had no such meeting with Cohn on that date or any other date between their one hour initial meeting in the car on December 19, 1951 and the time Cohn took over his trial preparation in May 1952.

The conclusion that Lumbard reaches is: "The choice of a scapegoat in the person of Roy Cohn is too obvious a tactic to merit further comment. The charge of subordination relating to a conversation with Trachtenberg about the 'Law of the Soviet State' made in such great detail and upon the truth of which defendants rest their claim for relief is utterly false. The lie foisted upon the court preempts the entirety of Matusow's testimony at the hearing and renders it utterly incredible."

From all this it would appear that Harvey Matusow may have been resurrected by the communists in an effort to get Roy Cohn in order to teach a lesson to others not to send spies like the Rosenbergs to the electric chair. Otherwise why did they pay him to exhibit himself as the complete liar?

Student Pilot Crashes, Kills 4 In France

VALENCIENNES, France (AP) — A Royal Air Force training plane crashed at a station in Britain crashed about midnight in the nearby mining village of Vicq, killing at least four persons and seriously injuring two others.

Police said no trace of the pilot was found. He was a young RAF corporal. A ground crewman with only a student pilot's license, he had flown dizzily at low levels over London for nearly three hours last night before disappearing.

The British said he had no parachute and it was believed he also had died in the flaming wreckage of his plane, which destroyed one of the two houses it hit.

Three of the French were killed in their homes. They were a 10-year-old boy, his 9-year-old sister, and a 55-year-old woman. A man, 54, died later of injuries.

The plane was stolen last night from the Thorney Island Navigation School in Hampshire, England by the crewman who was tentatively identified as Nank Agnani. Agnani, 20, was a British subject who was born in Pakistan. The Air Ministry said he held a student pilot's license which required that he wear glasses while flying.

Air Force Plans Big GI Shuttle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, as part of its plan to rotate whole units rather than individual soldiers overseas will settle two regiments of about 3,500 men each across the Pacific by air in July.

The 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team will be sent from Ft. Campbell, Ky., to Japan, replacing the 187th Regiment, which returns to Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The census bureau estimates that U. S. population will reach 217 million in the next 25 years.

Writer's Cramp Not Just an Expression

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Remember those penmanship lessons you had back in elementary school?

I hope all of you bookkeepers, clerks and anyone else who has to do a lot of writing benefited from them. If not, eventually you might develop writer's cramp.

Most often bothered by this condition are men between ages of 30 and 60 who make their living with a pencil or pen. Secretaries, however, usually aren't troubled by this occupational hazard if they use shorthand.

The first sign of writer's cramp occurs when you lose control of your pen or pencil occasionally and notice minor disfigurements in your writing.

You grip the pen tighter than is necessary and consequently your hand becomes tired easily and begins to ache. In time you won't be able to move your thumb or index finger freely enough to move the pen. By this time your writing is jerky. Unless you quite now, your entire forearm will be bothered as the muscles are stricken with spasms.

The cause of these cramps is simple: You're not writing correctly. Remember, the penmanship classes stressed the importance of moving your whole arm when you write.

If you write only by moving your thumb and index finger, or maybe your wrist, too, you're inviting trouble. By doing this, you throw the greatest strain on a small group of muscles.

Unfortunately, by the time you develop writer's cramp, it's usually too late to change your entire style of writing.

Rest is the best cure. You'll have to stop writing entirely for six months or so. Then, when you resume writing, use a broad pen point and a thick penholder.

Prevention Is Best

You can easily see that it is much easier and much less painful to prevent this situation than it is to cure it. If you're not writing correctly, you'd better change your ways while you can.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

C. C. J.: What would be the cause of an awful itching in the legs? I have taken treatment which gave no relief.

Answer: Itching eruption on the legs can come from many causes. It may be due to chemicals which come in contact with the skin, to irritation from cold or heat, to foods which are eaten, as well as to various infections. A thorough and complete examination by a skin specialist will determine just what is producing the trouble. Then the proper treatment for the condition can be suggested.

Iowa Area Still Likes Ike

Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON—A survey of public opinion in a typical and representative state—Iowa — indicates that the voters still like Ike's domestic and foreign program by about 60 per cent's worth. And if he can carry Iowa, which went for Harry S. Truman in 1948, Republican political experts believe that he can carry the country.

The canvass was conducted by Sen. Thomas E. Martin, former member of the House for the First Iowa District. Senator Martin defeated the able and popular Guy M. Gillette in one of last year's most remarkable election upsets.

Martin's former House district, whence most of the replies to his questionnaire came, lies in the southeastern corner of the state. It includes such a manufacturing and publishing city as Des Moines and many farm communities, where Henry A. Wallace's "tall corn" grows.

PERCENTAGE—The number of answers, about 15 per cent of the total of Senator Martin's inquiries, exceed the percentage usually returned in this kind of poll.

About 35 per cent of the answers came from farmers, 20 per cent from factory workers, 20 per cent from business and professional people, and about 25 per cent from white collar and "miscellaneous" workers. It was a good, solid cross-section of Senator Martin's constituents, in his opinion.

As further evidence of the political worth of Senator Martin's sampling of sentiment, it is read with interest and possibly some anxiety by his colleagues on Capitol Hill. Many members, including those from distant sections of the country, look to it for voting guidance.

CONCERNS—The major worries of Senator Martin's constituents testify to their broad interests and intelligence. Although they live and labor in the nation's most abundant corn state, their chief concerns center on federal finances and oppressive taxation rather than national defense, the cold war with the Communists and declining farm income. Here, in the order of their rated importance, are their bread-and-butter both-erations:

Government spending, taxation, national defense, war preparedness, control of communism in the United States, corruption in government, foreign

Pravda Says Chma Wants No U. S. War

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party newspaper Pravda said today the "Chinese people do not want war with the United States."

In an article from Bandung, Indonesia, Pravda said the "Chinese government is ready to start negotiations with the government of the United States to discuss the question of weakening tension in the Far East and especially in the district of Formosa."

This was the first time the authoritative Soviet newspaper had stated bluntly that the Chinese people do not want war over Formosa.

trade policies, the farm support program, wartime and peacetime use of atomic energy, labor attitudes and policies of the Eisenhower Administration.

REACTIONS—Listed by major subjects, here are the reactions and reflections from this characteristic segment of the country on Senator Martin's questionnaire:

National Defense: Sixty six per cent favor a two-year draft, with the draftees subject to a redraft in an emergency for six years. Sixty-one per cent oppose universal military training, meaning six months of training and possible recall for duty for nine and a half years.

Foreign Policy: Eighty per cent generally approve the Eisenhower-Dulles program; but 63 per cent favor the Bricker Amendment. Almost 61 per cent want an end to foreign economic aid, but more than 62 per cent would continue overseas military assistance.

About 62 per cent oppose the exchange of atomic secrets with foreign nations, including NATO members. More than 86 per cent prefer private to government development of atomic energy for peacetime use. About 60 per cent would trade butter with Russia for manganese or other essential materials.

The vote for farm price supports on a 90 per cent parity basis was only 42.02 per cent. About 80 per cent oppose balancing of the budget by raising tax rates, and 74.62 per cent want a tax reduction before getting the budget in order.

West Shows Current Gains Against Communist Moves

(Editor's note — how goes the cold war? What is the significance of Communist setbacks among Europe's workers? Where are the dangers? What can the West expect? To get the answers, William L. Ryan traveled along the western edge of the Iron Curtain from France to Turkey. He coupled his own knowledge of Communist aims and methods with the best information from political and military officials. The AP foreign news analyst gives his findings in three articles of which this is the first.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
PARIS (AP)—This is how the West can assess the cold war on the European front in this spring of 1955:

From the short-range viewpoint, the West has chalked up remarkable victories.

From the long-range view, the next two or three years will be critical and dangerous.

As the guns of World War II fell silent, communism sprang armed and militant from the ruins, feeding upon carnage and despair. Now, 10 years later, communism, as a Soviet-sponsored revolutionary movement, is loving its appeal among Europe's working people. Communist parties, stopped cold for some time, are being rolled back politically.

A military "no trespassing" line has been drawn across Europe and down through the Middle East. It has forced the Soviet Union to change its tune and its tactics. These tactics bear germs of further decay for the Red parties of the West.

This is a synthesis of the best opinion to be found in Europe at the moment; The West is winning battles. It can still lose the cold war.

One cannot escape the relatively recent upsurge of public confidence and optimism in Western Europe. For eight years, under the Marshall Plan, the Truman Doctrine and other names, the United States has been pumping new economic life and military stamina into Western Europe. Currencies have hardened. Standards of living have been rising.

If these trends continue, and if the Soviet Union is kept indefinitely from moving outside the Iron Curtain, then, in the opinion of many a Western observer, the beginning of decay will set in for the Communist movement in Europe as sponsored and directed by Moscow. But these successes, at the same time, have generated new factors. The new confidence and optimism bring an urge for relaxation.

"For the first time in the cold war," a highly placed Western spokesman told me, "time is on our side. In the next few years, our position with regard to the Soviet Union, politically, economically and militarily, should get better and better—provided we don't relax. We can't afford to relax now."

"Fear drove us into each other's arms and into the great experiment known as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The new optimism generated in Europe by the fact that we are feeling militarily more secure all the time, plus the prospect of 12 German divisions being armed in Central Europe under our direction and control, has begun to set in motion a tendency to relax."

"To relax is dangerous. We may feel the Russians are not foolish enough to overestimate their abilities and move against us. But to gamble on that would be to take an awful chance."

The pre-ailing estimate of the Soviet regime is that it is a shrewd and logical one. The Russians have made a realistic survey of their situation. They may be expected to react in accordance with a realistic conclusion. The conclusion: Soviet communism cannot now think in terms of seizure of governments, particularly in the West. The cold war then must move to other fields—economic, social and diplomatic.

Soviet efforts in the diplomatic field are illustrated by the current gambit on Austria. The Russians have nothing to lose there and much to hope for in consenting to an independence treaty guaranteeing Austrian neutrality. Unlike Stalin, the present regime is able to take a Russian boot out of a door for long-range advantage.

Soviet efforts in the economic field dovetail with the diplomatic campaign. The present lure of trade for exporting Western nations—particularly West Germany, whose capacity for outdistances her ability to absorb her production. The able A. I. Mikoyan, Soviet trade expert, already is in charge of the program.

The Russians obviously intend that their move in Austria will have a strong effect in Germany, raising hopes that reasonable negotiations with the Soviet Union are possible. But, the Russians will hint, how can negotiations for reunifying Germany take place if Western Germany is building militarily in an alliance Moscow insists is pointed aggressively toward the Soviet Union? How can normal trade take place under such circumstances?

In the social cultural field, the Soviet Union will do all in its power to woo allies from all classes, regardless of Marxist dogma. This program is pointed toward a short-term goal, to divide the United States from its Allies and to produce a passion for neutralism in Western Europe. While the West remains united, it is dangerous for world communism to move aggressively in any direction. Yet communism, a dynamic movement, must keep moving or stagnate.

How can the cold war be lost. Competent observers throughout Europe say the West will retain its advantage only in relation, first, to a continuing improvement of economic conditions and a steady rise in standards of living. But along with this, they say, there must be a public willingness to bear the cost of maintaining a constant alert. If Western unity should fall apart, Soviet communism once again could be on the move.

How can the cold war be won? That is a more difficult question. I asked it of many statesmen and military leaders. All agreed the answer is not in the foreseeable future. All agreed it would be a long and wearing fight.

One man had a hopeful answer—a churchman who is one of the staunchest friends of the United States, The Patriarch Athenagoras, spiritual leader of all the Orthodox faith, including the Russian Orthodox, isolates himself from politics in his traditional seat in Istanbul, Turkey. But Athenagoras knows America well. He served 20 years as an archbishop in the United States.

The answer, said the patriarch, lies with America.

"Freedom with abundance—that is America," Athenagoras said. "She hears not only the peal of the liberty bell in Philadelphia, but also the bell from on high. It is given to the United States to show the world the way. That is the mission of America: To demonstrate to the world that freedom with abundance is possible. Then there will be peace."

Health For All

KEEP WALKING

The power failed. In the great city the millions of tiny hand cars that carried the people even the shortest distance from bed to breakfast table stopped moving. For a long time the people clung to the cars on which they depended, but hunger and finally panic set in. On hands and knees, they began to crawl in search of food and safety. Helpless, hopeless, they died by the thousands as their beautiful civilization ground to a halt.

Science fiction? Of course. A writer's dream of the future when man's feet have become as useless as his appendix.

Could it happen? Look out the window at a beautiful May day. You would not want to lose the power of walking down a country road or even a city street on such a day. But how often do you do it? Do you really walk, or just get around? If you started out right now, how soon would you tire? Muscles have to be used, or they lose tone and weaken. Our feet are a remarkably delicate assembly of small bones and muscles. To do their job, they must be kept at peak efficiency.

But, you say, I'm a housewife and I'm on my feet just about every minute the live-long day. You may be on them, but do you really use them? Do they carry you comfortably, or just shuffle along complaining at every step?

It is lucky that our feet do not suffer and grow weak without complaining. If they are in trouble, we get pain signals not only from the feet themselves but also from the back and the head. We feel tired all over.

We can prevent foot trouble by using correct walking methods. Take a good walk now and then, and when you do, use your whole body, and swing your legs from the hips. Always walk with your feet parallel, and put them down with the whole sole touching the ground. Shoes must be correctly fitted. If you only have to sit and look pretty, spike heels will do, but if your feet must work, low solid heels are the thing.

You may be the first to order one of those little machines to speed you through your household tasks, but let's keep the power of walking for pleasure with pleasure.

Chillicothe Team Is Edged by Lions

Although outbait by Chillicothe's Cavaliers, the Lions of WHS racked up their third baseball victory of the season on their home lot Tuesday afternoon by a 3 to 2 score.

The Lions not only made their three scattered hits count but also took full advantage of the Cavalier errors to nose out their guests from Ross County.

A tight defense and a bit of sharp strategy by Coach Jim Lipinski kept the Chillicothe boys in check, although they did have the Lions worried from the start.

The Lions put across the first run of the game in the third inning when Robinett drew a base on balls, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and came home on a sacrifice fly to right field by Grooms.

Grooms, incidentally, was credited with only one hit and did not score a run himself but he was responsible to two of the three WHS tallies.

The Cavaliers took the lead in the next inning when Luvsenhiemer walked but was out on a fielder's choice that put Gibson on first. G. Prohl sent Gibson to third with a single and they both scored on Herstein's single. But, Herstein was nipped trying to stretch his hit into a double.

The Cavaliers held that slim one-run edge until the fifth, when the Lions knotted the score when Mickie made the first of his two runs. His second run won the game.

MICKIE TIED the score in the fifth when he circled the bases on three errors and a fielder's choice. He was safe on an error, went to second on an overthrow and took third when he beat the throw on Anders grounder while Anders was safe at first on a fielder's choice. Mickie then scored on an overthrow to third.

The Lions were in hot water in the sixth until Coach Lipinski pulled a bit of strategy that got them out of the hole. With two out and the bases loaded and two strikes and no balls the count on the batter, Coach Lipinski noticed that Bob Graves, who had pitched a whale of a game, appeared to be getting arm-weary. That was when he called Robinett, his ace hurler, in from right field and told him to bear down on Goshorn to get that third strike past him.

His first pitch was low for ball one, his second was fouled and the count remained the same — and then he fired one down the middle that split the plate for the strikeout and to end the Cavalier threat.

The Chillicotheans got a hit in the seventh and last frame, but the runner was left stranded on second.

So, when Mickie cracked a lusty triple to the outer garden, it was not only the only extra-base hit of the game but also the most timely — at least so far as the Lions were concerned. For, he came on home with the winning run when Grooms laid down a perfect bunt.

Graves issued only three passes and fanned only three Cavaliers. Goshorn gave up only two walks and set down seven Lions on strikes.

The Lions now hold wins over Hillsboro, Chillicothe and Circleville and have lost to Hillsboro and Wilmington. They meet the Hurricane from Wilmington here Wednesday afternoon.

Extra Innings Needed In AA

CHARLESTON — It took extra innings to decide the issue on two American Association fronts last night.

Minneapolis and Charleston battled into the bottom of the 12th frame before the Millers won a 10-9 nightcap verdict. The Senators also dropped the opener, 12-1.

Omaha beat Indianapolis 7-6 in 10 innings.

Toledo split with St. Paul while Louisville again arranged Denver, 13-10. Five home runs carried Toledo to a 5-1 decision in the opener, and the Saints triumphed, 2-0, in the nightcap.

Redleg Chief Sees 'Vultures Buzzing'

BROOKLYN — Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, said the "vultures have been buzzing me."

"They always do when your club is going poorly," he said good naturedly. "Think you might get panicky and dispose of a first-line player who is in a slump. But I'm not going to be stampeded into making a deal that could very easily backfire on us later on."

The seventh place Reds, losers of their last five games, were rained out last night but the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers quickly rescheduled the contest for tonight.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

NCAA Puts Cincy, Oklahoma Universities On Probation

CHICAGO, (AP) — The NCAA cracked down on the Universities of Oklahoma and Cincinnati yesterday with a warning that the two clean up their athletic policies or face possible expulsion.

Oklahoma was placed on two years probation by the policy-making council of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Cincinnati was given one year probation and was ruled ineligible to participate in NCAA championship events.

No such clause was attached to Oklahoma's penalty, which means Oklahoma, perennial Big Seven football champion and a major grid power nationally, can participate in the Orange Bowl next New Year's Day if the Sooners win the conference title.

The council reprimanded three other schools and terminated the probation periods of two others.

One-year probationary sentences for Kansas State and North Carolina State for "athletic malpractices" were terminated effective May 7.

The University of Dayton (Ohio), Bethune-Cookman College of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Virginia Union University were reprimanded.

Dayton was reprimanded for holding a basketball tryout and the others two for engaging in the Tropical Bowl football game at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 12, 1953. The game was not certified by the NCAA.

The council reported it was found that Oklahoma staff members offered prospective student-athletes cost-free education beyond the athletes' normal period of eligibility.

The school also was accused of paying medical expenses for immediate families of student athletes, specifically the wives and children of such athletes. The council said university patrons provided student-athletes "fringe benefits" in the form of clothes, miscellaneous gifts of cash and other gifts of relative nominal value.

Some members of the Cincinnati football coaching staff were found to have offered athletes aid in excess of that permitted by the university and the NCAA and to have provided transportation for prospective football players to visit the campus during the years 1951 through 1953.

Cincinnati President Raymond Walters blamed former Coach Sid Gillman, now of the Los Angeles Rams, for the practices which brought NCAA censure. He said the practices no longer exist.

Oklahoma President George L. Cross and Football Coach Bud Wilkinson said the NCAA's investigation failed to show "a single case of fraud or dishonesty" and described the probationary action as vindication for the Sooner athletic program.

Soviets Planning Trip To Moon

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio says Russia is considering a plan to explore the moon with a tank controlled by radio. It predicted lunar trips by human beings would follow in a year or two.

The broadcast said the 240,000-mile trip would be made in two stages: First, the space ship would be taken several hundred miles into the sky by rocket tugboats. Its own rocket engine would then be turned on by remote radio control to put it into an orbit around the earth. Rockets would next be sent up to refuel the space ship for the trip the rest of the way to the moon.

Detroit Kegler Cracks ABC List

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Changés in the leaders in the American Bowling Congress tournament continued on a small scale yesterday with only one young kegler crashing the first 10 in two divisions.

He was Jim Telfer, a 19-year-old Detroit student, whose efforts won him second place in the all events and a tie for ninth in the singles.

Young Telfer rolled games of 195, 259 and 235 for a 689 in the singles. His all events total was 1,964, only 29 pins back of the leader, Fred Bujack of Detroit.

Plan To Smoke Out Girl Fails

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Arvie Haliburton, 31, admitted smoking his girl friend out of the home of a rival suitor here yesterday.

Haliburton entered a plea of guilty to charges that he bought a nickel's worth of kerosene, saturated a corner of the rival's house and set it afire.

The fire brought the girl out of the house, Haliburton testified, but she still wouldn't leave with him. He received a two-year probation sentence.

Chilly Day Awaits Tribe In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Righthander Early Wynn makes his first start of the season for the Cleveland Indians today in what promises to be another chilly day against the Washington Nationals.

The weather man says it will be a little warmer than yesterday's misty 48, when the smallest crowd in 10 years or more saw Bob Lemon beat the Nats 3-2.

So far this season, Wynn has pitched only two innings of relief against Detroit and five innings in an exhibition against Indianapolis. He was out at the start of the season with bronchial pneumonia.

Lemon, who won his fourth straight game, said it was too cold yesterday to work up a sweat and the ball was slippery and hard to grip. Lemon got a good grip on the bat in the fourth inning, though and hit a homer.

"Actually, I didn't have much on the ball all afternoon," Lemon said after the game. He credited fancy fielding with saving the game.

Cleveland scored its runs on Lemon's homer and a two-run homer by Bobby Avila.

Only 972 cash customers, 187 children, 127 ladies and one serviceman, a total of 1,287, braved the cold weather. It was the smallest crowd the Indians have played before since 1949 when 801 saw them in Chicago.

It is now possible for you to increase your soybean yields. Clark soybeans make this possible. Official tests were conducted by Mr. A. H. Probst, U. S. Regional Soybean Laboratory, U. S. D. A. and Agronomy
Dept., Purdue University. Yield comparisons from 1948 through 1954 including 19 different tests in 4
locations, Clark compared to Lincoln, the Clark yielded 46.8 bushels per acre. The Lincoln yielded 39-5 bushels per acre. The Clarks stand better than Lincolns and are very easily combined.

The Clark seed I have to offer is certified by the Ohio
Seed Improvement Association. For further informa-

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPE

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Color Screens for the Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

SOMETIMES a quick growing vine is needed to cover a multitude of garden sins, especially in a new one. Annual vines usually are the answer. They grow quickly and compactly, their flowers transform them into color screens, and they are inexpensive.

Morning Glories have always been favorites for screening purposes. Popular varieties are Heavenly Blue, Pearly Gates, Scarlett O'Hara and Blue Star. Now an unusual Morning Glory bids for fame. It is called Hearts and Honey vine. The characteristics of its bloom and foliage are shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

It is a fast growing vine and its ornamental, fern-like foliage is decorated with two-inch trumpets which change color three times a day. The flowers first show a pinkish-orange color, then become a brilliant pinkish-red and finally are transformed to a rose-pink. The blooms stay open all day to the delight of the hummingbirds.

Another annual vine which produces quantities of flowers, as well as serving a utilitarian purpose, is the hyacinth bean.

The hyacinth bean vine flowers freely, the blooms varying from white to purple in color. They are pea-shaped and grow in whorls on rigid stems, as shown in the Garden-Graph.

The flowers are followed by a drop of ornamental seed pods. The pods are purple in color and velvety in texture. The leaves are heart-shaped.

Draft Test Set

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio selective service headquarters says a special college qualification test will be held Thursday, May 19, for registrants not able to take either of the previous regularly scheduled tests. Applications for the test submitted later than May 9 will not be accepted.

Rehabilitation At VA Hospital Described Here

Lions Club Speaker
Outlines Program At
Chillicothe Hospital

Eighty-six members and two guests were at the Country Club for the regular meeting of the Washington C. H. Lions club Tuesday evening.

Special honored guests of the evening were the past presidents of the club who are recognized each year in this way.

Six new members were formally inducted into the club by Howard Wright, Robert Minshall and Wayne Bower, president of the club. They were James P. Hutton, George S. Inskoop, Howard McDonald, Horace L. Jacobs, Russell Hinchee and Ralph Bray. Bray was a former member of the club and, after returning to Washington C. H. was re-inducted.

Guests at the meeting were Stephen Sterling with William Thompson and Roy Drury of Chillicothe with Walter O'Brien.

The past-presidents at the meeting were Robert Sanderson, Emerson Marting, Fred Enslin, A. E. Weatherly, Robert Minshall, Walter Rettig, Paul Van Voorhis, Sam Parrett, Harold McCord, Walter O'Brien and R. B. Tharp.

Frank Ellis, co-chairman with John Sagar of the race matinee held Sunday gave the financial report of that project. Ellis reported a total net profit of $419.97 was earned for the clubs sight saving fund. This amount was considered very good in spite of the rain which fell in the area most of the day.

THE SPEAKER for the evening introduced by Walter O'Brien was Don Allison, the director of rehabilitation at the U. S. Veterans' hospital at Chillicothe.

Allison outlined the important work his department is doing in helping to teach veterans to live with themselves. He said "our work is not of curing the individuals but of teaching them in many different ways, such as, the use of physical therapy, corrective and occupational therapy, manual therapy, school and research therapy."

In describing each step Allison said, physical therapy takes in brain surgery and the use of shock treatments. Good results are achieved in some cases.

In corrective therapy he said, "we employ physical work which helps to ease a person's mind." Occupational therapy includes teaching the many handicrafts that men can do when properly instructed.

Manual therapy is the use of heavy milling machines and the like.

"In our school we offer grade school, high school and college courses, and our research therapy is new and yet untested," he said.

In summing up the work for these patients but with the use of these therapeutic systems we have been able to restore many patients who formerly would have been lost to society."

Elmer Reed gave a report of the nominating committee for new officers to lead the club, effective with installation of officers in June. Those to be voted upon at the next meeting are for: president, John Breiner; second vice president, Norris Highfield; third vice president, Ray French; Omar Schwartz and Eddie McCoy; secretary, Tom Mark.

Cut from Taxes Received Here

County Gets $111,459
In State Distribution

Fayette County Tuesday received two checks totaling $111,459.

All of this money came from the state auditor's office which is now distributing a grand total of $28,862,410 to counties and their registration districts from 1955 motor vehicle license fees.

This first advance distribution of the fees represents 86 percent of the total collected. The money will be divided as follows: 47 percent to counties, 34 percent to districts of registration, and 5 percent to an equalization fund from which each county receives $19,300.

Last year's first distribution amounted to $17,366,269.

County auditors will send out the registration districts shares. Checks going to counties, exclusive of their standard $19,300 share, include:

Clinton, $101,041
Fayette, $92,159
Hocking, $61,504
Pickaway, $95,771
Van Wert, $94,429.

Part of the money, County Auditor Ulric Acton said, will go to Washington C. H. and other municipalities in the county. The rest will be kept by the county. The money will be distributed thus: Washington C. H., $20,884.84; Bloomingburg, $1,065.56; Jeffersonville, $1,006.06; Milledgeville, $225.42; New Holland, $38.08; and Octa, $8.50.

Fayette County's share will be $68,930.91. Which all totals $92,159—the amount of one check received.

The other check for $19,300 represents the 5 percent equalization fund. Each county in the state receives that amount which is based on basic operational expenses.

All of the money received by county, city and villages is earmarked for maintaining and repairing streets, highways and roads. Each village and city takes care of its own streets with the money Acton expects to send to them very shortly.

Acton incidentally, just returned to work Monday after a lengthy bout with pneumonia.

Mrs. Lizzie Buck Called by Death

Built Up Business
Over Half Century

Mrs. Lizzie Buck, 95, who built the Buck Greenhouses here into a thriving business, died at her home, 1003 North North Street at 6:50 P. M. Tuesday. She had been seriously ill for only about a day.

She had been in failing health for several years, but there were few days when she was not at the Greenhouses to see how things were going and offer suggestions.

Despite the years and her physical frailty, Mrs. Buck was the guiding genius of a big and complicated business enterprise.

A native of Circleville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Davenport, she and her husband, Robert Buck came to Washington C. H. just 50 years ago and started a greenhouse. It was a small beginning and Mrs. Buck was left alone with the infant business when her husband died not long after they established it. However, with her energy, determination, sound business judgment and most of all, her artistry with flower arrangements, the business grew and prospered.

MRS. BUCK was a retiring woman, but she had hundreds of friends in all walks of life who she remembered at birthdays, holidays and times of sickness with bouquets of flowers she had fashioned herself. What she did for her friends in other ways will never be known, for she never mentioned it and she kept no records of it.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church here and a faithful supporter of it.

Her closest surviving relatives are a niece, Mrs. John Turner in Boston, and a nephew, George Davenport Kratz in Greenwich, Conn.

However, her constant companion, both at home and at the greenhouses, was Mrs. Ragna Stenmar, a native of Denmark. She was like one of Mrs. Buck's family and made her home with her for a number of years.

Helge R. Petersen, also a Dane has been the active manager of the greenhouses, for many years. Funeral services are to be conducted at 2 P. M. Friday at the residence on North Street by Rev. Harold Braden, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Interment is to be in the Circleville Cemetery under the direction of the Gerstner Funeral Home here.

Friends may call after noon Thursday at the residence.

Everett Milstead Laid Up With Injury

Everett Milstead is still laid up at his home with a severe bruise on his leg as the result of an unusual accident in his Dunlop Tire Shop on Market Street.

He explained that he was working on the new tire capping equipment Monday when a bar in a whirling wheel hit his left leg. He was taken to Memorial Hospital for treatment, but that an X-ray examination showed no bones broken.

Milstead said the injury was very painful but that he hoped to be back at his normal routine soon.

Warmer Weather After Quince Winter

The warmer weather Wednesday came after a brief "quince winter" or short cold snap which arrived Sunday night following a series of rains and storms throughout the mid-west.

Inasmuch as quince trees are now in bloom, the cold weather this week may well have been called "quince winter."

The term has long been applied to cold snaps at the time the quince trees are blooming.

Virgil C. Duff Dies In Dayton Hospital

Virgil C. Duff, 56, former Waterloo Pike farmer, died suddenly Wednesday morning at Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton.

Mr. Duff, who had been living at 108 Center Street, Dayton, is survived by two sons, Donald C. Duff of Millersport and William H. Duff of the U. S. Army stationed in France; two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Athey and Mrs. Anna Belle Certier, both of Washington C. H.

Also surviving are a brother Roscoe of Waterloo Pike and five granddaughters.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at the Parrett Funeral Home.

First of Children in Fayette County Get Anti-Polio Shots

LINED UP PATIENTLY WAITING for their inoculations of the new Salk polio vaccine are some of the 67 first and second graders at Good Hope who received their shots Wednesday morning. (Record-Herald photos)

BRAVE GRIN is the reaction of Judy Strouth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Titus Strouth of near Good Hope. Judy goes to Good Hope School. (Record-Herald photos)

More than 500 boys and girls in the first and second grades of the Fayette County elementary schools got their first anti-polio shots of Salk vaccine... and you have the word of the nurses and doctors and teachers that "they were just wonderful."

Jimmy Mastin is believed to have been the first child in the county to get the vaccine. It was just about 9 o'clock when Dr. N. M. Reiff, president of the Fayette County Medical Association, gave him his first shot. Assisting him were the nurses, Mrs. Ruth Wientjes of the Health Department and Mrs. Juanita Hill.

There were a few yells and a few brave grins, but for the most part the youngsters were grimly serious — until they walked away from the doctor, they just beamed with pride and strutted with nonchalance.

These shots were given without charge; the Infantile Paralysis Foundation paid the bill for the vaccine and the physicians, administered it with the help of nurses and teachers and mothers on their own time.

Boys and girls in the first and second grades of the Washington C. H. Schools will get their first shots Thursday morning.

Then on May 18 and 19, all these children will get their second shots. Whether they will get a third shot in seven months to a year, as originally planned, is still somewhat obscure. However, indications now are that the second shots May 18 and 19 will complete the inoculation process.

The doctors and nurses were loud in their praise of the help they got from the teachers and the volunteer helpers (most women from the PTO groups). They said the teachers had built up the morale of the children, built up their courage, to the place where few even so much as flinched.

Parents of a few went to the schools to see their youngsters vaccinated. One of the nurses commented: "...and usually it was these boys and girls who puckered up when their turns came."

While the boys and girls waiting their turns were not taken too close to the place where the others were being vaccinated, few of them paid much attention to what was going on; they appeared to have complete confidence in the doctors and the nurses.

The inoculations did not take long. For example the shots were given to 137 at Bloomingburg in just a few minutes over an hour.

There was a reward for their bravery, too. At Good Hope they were given balloons and a sucker; at Bloomingburg they got suckers and bubble gum and at Jeffersonville they got suckers.

The pupils of the Chaffin, Wilson and Eber schools in Union Township got their shots in the afternoon at the Chaffin School.

Three vaccination centers were to be set up for the city school youngsters: at the Eastside, Sunny-side and Central schools. Boys and girls of the Rose Avenue and Cherry Hill schools are to go to Central for their shots.

At the Jeffersonville center 142 children were inoculated. Eighty of these youngsters were from Jeffersonville school, 16 from Book-walter and 46 from Milledgeville.

The Jeffersonville center team was made up of Dr. Hugh W. Payton; nurses Jean Coe and Corrine Sperry; teachers Miss Helen Fults, Miss Avis Bockstahler, Mrs. Dar-

Divorce Hinges On Wife's Weight

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Korzen, 42, says his divorce suit will be withdrawn if his 190-pound wife Lillian, 43, will reduce. His lawyer told Judge Cornelius Harrington: "If Mrs. Korzen will diet down to 125 pounds, this marriage can be saved. Korzen says if that's too tough he'll even settle for 140 pounds." The hearing was continued until Mrs. Korzen decides whether she'll reduce.

U. S. Willing To Talk Truce To Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the United States is willing to confer alone with Red China regarding a Formosa area cease-fire, but not on matters affecting Nationalist China.

Backing up the position of Secretary of State Dulles, the President told a news conference it may have been a bit of an overstatement for the United States to say last Saturday that it would "insist on free China's participation as an equal in any discussion" concerning the Formosa area.

The State Department put out such a statement when Red China offered to negotiate with the U. S. to relax the tension in the Formosa area.

Dulles told a news conference yesterday, however, that the United States is willing to negotiate with Communist China regarding a possible cease-fire in the Formosa Strait.

He emphasized, however, that this government would not deal alone with Red China on any matters concerning the Chiang Kai-shek Nationalist regime.

EARLIER TODAY, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), a strong backer of the Chinese Nationalists, endorsed a move for face-to-face talks with the Red Chinese on a possible Formosa area truce.

Smith, a Foreign Relations Committee member, said he thinks Dulles took the right tack yesterday in announcing the United States is exploring the possibility of such discussions.

Dulles' statement was received with approval in London and Paris official quarters. But at Taipei, a Nationalist spokesman voiced disappointment, saying: "We strongly believe that any contact with the Reds will be fruitless."

Smith said "I think we should be willing to sit down and talk with the Communist Chinese on the question of obtaining a straight cease-fire."

"In any question where property is involved, the Nationalists must be represented," he added. "I think this country is in the mood to stop the killing now."

Smith said he thought Dulles had drawn an "important distinction" between cease-fire and other talks in saying this country intends to try to find out if Red China's premier was sincere in proposing a two-nation conference to seek relaxation of Far East tensions.

Yesterday, Chairman George (D-Ga) of the Foreign Relations Committee said he "wouldn't lose the opportunity" to sit down with the Chinese Communists to discuss present tensions even if the Nationalists weren't represented.

Crime Expert Says Dr. Sam Is Innocent

Left-Handed Attacker Bitten On Hand By Victim, Prof Claims

CLEVELAND (AP) — A laboratory expert contended in court today that Marilyn Sheppard's killer was a left-handed sex attacker who was bitten on the hand. A drop of blood from the slayer's hand was smeared on a door in her bedroom, he said.

Dr. Paul L. Kirk, professor of criminalistics at the University of California, made these points in an affidavit presented in common pleas court.

Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 31-year-old Bay Village osteopath, was convicted last Dec. 21 of bludgeoning his pregnant wife Marilyn to death in their home on July 4. A jury found him guilty of murder in the second degree, and he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Dr. Kirk said flatly that Sheppard is innocent. Sheppard is seeking a new trial on the basis of newly discovered evidence. The trial judge, Edward Blythin, presided at today's hearing on the motion for new trial.

Also pending is an appeal from Sheppard's conviction, on the ground of trial errors and a claim the evidence was not sufficient for conviction. The appellate court will conduct a hearing May 25.

DR. KIRK SPENT several days in the Sheppard home last January and concluded his investigation with his West Coast laboratory. His affidavit contained 33 pages of text and 17 pages of appendices.

The affidavits show two blood stains were removed from a wardrobe door in Mrs. Sheppard's bedroom by Dr. Virgil Haws, pathologist at Bay View Hospital where the defendant practiced.

They were sent to Dr. Kirk for analysis and one of them proved to be "of extreme importance."

Dr. Kirk's affidavit said a one-inch blood stain from the door belonged to neither of the Sheppards.

The slaying began as an attempt to attack Mrs. Sheppard sexually, said Dr. Kirk.

The defendant testified he grappled with a bushy haired intruder and twice was knocked out.

The criminologist said blood spattered found in the Sheppard bedroom, and the pattern of blows on the victim's skull were such as to prove a left-handed person was the slayer. Dr. Sheppard is right handed.

From the spacing and nature of the wounds, it was deduced the murder weapon was a metal object about 12 inches long, such as a flashlight, Dr. Kirk said.

At the trial, the state presented no murder weapon. Tooth fragments were found under the body. Dr. Kirk said his research showed they were broken by an outward yank, indicating Mrs. Sheppard had closed her teeth on an attacker's hand. Dr. Sheppard's hands bore no wound.

In the hearing for new trial, the state will insist Sheppard's chief defense counsel, William J. Corrigan, bring in "new facts, rather than new theories based on old facts," Saul S. Danaceau, assistant Cuyahoga County prosecutor, declared.

Fabb and Perrill Named Trustees Of Eyman Estate

Willard H. Perrill, prominent farmer of the Devalon Road, and Charles A. Fabb, Fayette County treasurer and farmer, were Wednesday named trustees of Jesse Eyman estate, succeeding the late Valdo R. McCoy.

The appointments were made by Probate Judge Robert L. Brubaker in accordance with terms of the Eyman will, which created the trusteeship and provided that two trustees be named to succeed Valdo R. McCoy who died recently.

Judge Brubaker fixed the preliminary bonds of the two trustees at $100,000 and they are to take up their duties as soon as they qualify.

McCoy had held the trusteeship for 27 years.

Judge Brubaker selected Fabb and Perrill for the trustees after interviewing each of the nine applicants for the position. He spent most of Tuesday afternoon talking with them and announced his appointments Wednesday morning.

Judge Brubaker has ordered an inventory of the entire Eyman estate be filed as soon as possible. The estate is valued at $500,000 or more.

THE ESTATE consists of approximately 1,300 acres of good land, well improved, and stocks and bonds with par value of around $125,000 and thousands of dollars worth of farm equipment, livestock, etc.

The stocks and bonds include many government bonds and stock in such enterprises as Cities Service, Master Tire and Rubber Co., Wellbeck Mf. Co., Republic Steel Corp., Sherwin-Williams & Co., etc.

Last year the income from the stocks and bonds was $8,435.47, and income from the farm was $44,095.15 with $27,636.74 expenses.

Since work of the trustees is only part time, County Treasurer Fabb will continue his duties as treasurer and Perrill will continue his usual farm activities.

In making the appointments, Judge Brubaker fixed no salaries, but when the annual accounting of the trustees is presented, they will present their claim for services rendered, which will be passed upon by Judge Brubaker.

Income from the estate, after expenses are deducted, is distributed chiefly to charity, as provided in the will of Jesse Eyman.

The amount distributed has been exceeding $20,000 per year for many years. During the past year the distribution reached approximately $25,000.

Financial Aid For Farmers Is Sought by Ike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower called today for a "many-sided attack" on the problems of low-income farmers.

"We must open wider the doors of opportunity to our million and a half farm families with extremely low incomes—for their own well-being and for the good of our country and all our people," he said in a special message to Congress.

The message transmitted recommendations by Secretary of Agriculture Benson which the President said had his "general approval." It urged, among other things, 30 million of lending authority and strengthening of off-farm employment opportunities for farmers barely able to make ends meet.

Benson's proposals were based on a study requested by the President more than a year ago. The President also sent Congress a report on this study, saying it emphasizes the long-range nature of the problem and that it would serve to stimulate continuing study and action.

Eisenhower told Congress "an immediate start is extremely important." He said in a nation where per capita income is the highest in the world, more than one fourth of the farm families still have cash incomes of less than $1,000 a year.

Part of the assistance program would require new legislation. The President said requests for this and for necessary appropriations will go to Congress shortly.

Sen. Aiken of Vermont, one of the Republican senators who got a preview of the administration proposals, said "very little new legislation" would be required to put the program into operation.

Some sharp debate was heard yesterday in the Senate as it passed by voice vote an annual agricultural appropriation that would allow spending of more than 1.4 billion during the fiscal year that begins July 1.

By a 76-5 margin, Sen. Williams (R-Del) lost an effort to clip $5 million from a $250 million authorization for federal conservation payments to farmers on 1956 crops.

The farm money bill now moves back to the House, which previously passed a version containing some 4 million less cash. A Senate-House conference committee will adjust differences.

Soviet Defense Chief's Notes Held Secret

But President Sees Hope For Improved U. S. Russ Relations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower disclosed today he has been in private correspondence with Soviet Defense Minister Zhukov within the past three weeks. He said the correspondence holds out some slim hope of betterment in American-Soviet relations.

Eisenhower told of the correspondence at a news conference, and said he has a feeling world peace prospects are on the upswing.

Eisenhower said it is also possible, however, to balance every encouraging development — such as Russia's willingness to agree on an Austrian peace treaty — with an adverse development, such as the Red Chinese air buildup in the vicinity of Formosa.

He said that at this time he sees no reason for a meeting between himself and the British, French and Russian heads of state as a result of the Austrian treaty negotiations. But he said such a meeting is always possible.

SECRETARY of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay have scheduled a meeting May 8 in Paris to discuss a Soviet meeting. Eisenhower declined to give details of his correspondence with Zhukov until the Soviet government official gives the word.

Eisenhower and Zhukov became well acquainted during occupation days in Berlin immediately after the defeat of Germany in World War II.

At that time, Zhukov once made plans (never carried through) to visit the United States. At a news conference last February, Eisenhower was asked whether he might now extend a new invitation to the Russian. He called it an idea worth considering.

Today, in the talk about Eisenhower's correspondence with Zhukov, the President was asked specifically about a published report that he asked Zhukov to intervene to seek the release of American airmen imprisoned by Red China.

The President replied he was not at liberty to discuss the contents of the correspondence exchange. He added that he would not want to be a party to possibly jeopardizing any world betterment that might flow from the exchange. He described the exchange as personal and confidential, and added that it would be up to Zhukov as to whether it should be made public.

The report of the correspondence was published by Newsweek Magazine which said Zhukov initiated it.

POLITICS — The President touched off a round of laughter when he said that on V-E day marking the end of the war in Europe 10 years ago next month, he thought that he had reached the end of his career. With a somewhat wistful smile, Eisenhower added that he envisioned peaceful days of retirement on his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., but that retirement there still seems to be a long way off.

Thinking they may have unearthed a clue to a presidential decision to seeking a second term next year, newsmen laughed.

The President joined in the laughter, then remarked that at his age, 21 months—the length of the remainder of his first term—still seems like a long time.

Actress Better After Suicide Try

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Susan Hayward lay in a Hollywood hospital today, recovering from what detectives said was a suicide attempt. Her ex-husband waited for a chance to see her.

Jess Barker flew from New Orleans yesterday after learning that the red-haired star had been rushed to a hospital by detectives who broke down a door and saved her from what was termed an over dose of sleeping medicine.

Her doctor wouldn't let him see her last night. She was described as in "satisfactory" condition.

Navy Eyes Blast Fatal To 5 Men

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — A three-man naval board of investigation opened an inquiry today into an explosion which killed five civilian workers yesterday at the Navy's underwater ordnance station here.

Five other civilian employees were hospitalized, but none was in critical condition. Several others required first aid.

The blast shattered a cement building 150 feet long and 50 feet wide which housed a dynamometer room used for testing torpedo propulsion parts.

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

It will be of more than passing interest to me to attend on Saturday, April 30, the formal dedication of the Henry Clyde Shetrone Hall of Ohio Archaeology when the Ohio Historical Society holds its 70th annual meeting at the Ohio Museum.

The hall will house many of the prehistoric Indian exhibits to which Shetrone, for many years state archaeologist and later director of the Ohio Historical Society, made many notable contributions.

Shetrone had been a personal friend of mine for a quarter of a century and I had been with him when he made some of his most notable discoveries in the Seip Mound and others. He died Nov. 23, 1954, after having served the Historical Society for 33 years.

One of his most notable contributions to archaeology was his book "The Mound Builder" published in 1930 and for which I supplied several photographs. I have an autographed copy of the book.

I am glad to see the noted archaeologist honored by naming a hall dedicated in his memory.

Several notables, including scientists from the Smithsonian Institution, Washington D. C. and the United States National Museum, will be present for the occasion. Gov. Frank J. Lausche will be a speaker at the meeting.

Bloodmobile Is Coming Here Thursday --- and Not on Friday

It's just a matter of hours before the Red Cross bloodmobile comes to the First Presbyterian Church here Thursday (not Friday, as the Record-Herald incorrectly reported yesterday).

By Wednesday, only 90 donors had signed to go to the blood center, but that is only about half enough to assure the 150-pint quota because some usually fail to meet the medical requirements. That's the explanation given by Mrs. Fred Cahall of the Red Cross chapter here.

Mrs. Charles Buxton of the Lioness Club, which is sponsoring the donor recruiting this time, explained that just because a donor was turned down once is no reason that he will be rejected the next time. "Take my case, for example," said Mrs. Buxton. "I was turned down twice, but I'm perfectly eligible now. The condition that caused the Red Cross to turn down a donor is often just temporary."

THE PROCESS of giving blood is extremely simple and painless, Mrs. Buxton said.

First the donor's temperature, blood pressure and hemoglobin are taken. (The hemoglobin test assures the donor that he will not be allowed to contribute if he is anemic.) Then the Bloodmobile staff takes the donor's medical history, to be sure that he has no disease that might make blood donation dangerous to him.

When the donor has passed all these tests, he can be sure that donation is perfectly safe for him.

The next step is to drink a glass of fruit juice. Then comes the actual blood donation, a "simple, painless" process according to those who have given blood often.

The final step is to eat a light lunch at the canteen.

There are no after-effects, donors says. A few feel slightly tired immediately afterward, but the blood is regenerated so fast that these few say the tiredness lasts only an hour or so.

ANYONE WHO can give blood Thursday is urged to call any member of the Lioness Club. If the prospective donor needs transportation, all he need do is tell the Lioness he calls that he wants a ride into the donation center and home again.

The transportation will be provided by members of the business and Professional Women's Club.

The First Presbyterian Church will be open Thursday from 10 A. M. until 4 P. M., and any prospective donors who cannot make definite appointments are asked to go into the church when they can.

The same staff of volunteers that has been on duty at the blood center in the past will serve again this time, Mrs. Cahall said.

Sister-Slayer's Trial Gets Start

BUCYRUS (AP) — After a friendly pillow fight, the boy blacked out. When he awoke, he was crunched on his sister's chest, his hand gripping her throat.

This is the description of the strangulation death of 16-year-old Patricia Spears, given by the defense yesterday in the second-degree murder trial of her brother, Frederick, 17.

Frederick, a blond, handsome youth, is expected to testify today. His attorney, C. U. Ahl, yesterday described the death scene and told the three-judge court young Spears was "not mentally competent" at the time of the slaying.

FFA Sets Budget, Plans for Contests

Members of the WHS chapter of Future Farmers of America set up their 1955-56 budget at their regular meeting Tuesday evening at the high school.

Other important business included planning for the state livestock and soil judging contests to be held June 3 and 4. The chapter here will send teams for both contests.

David Whiteside, chairman of the committee set up to choose a theme for the Fair booth, offered four suggestions of the four members chose farm safety.

A highpoint of the evening was the installation of new officers, with both the old and new officers taking part.

The 25 boys present at the meeting elected a pair of alternates to represent the chapter of the Junior Fair Board if one of the regular members should be absent. Oscar Glass and David Dray were chosen.

Also selected were members of a committee to handle attendance during the coming school year. Members are David Whiteside, chairman; John Rhoad, Roger McLean and Roger Sollars.

Final item on the agenda was discussion of a "chain" gift. Members decided to accept the gift of a gift from Jack Kellogg. The gift will be given to a member who will in turn pass on two more gifts to other members from the first list.

Vo-Ag Class Sees Co-ops In Operation

The Vo-Ag farm management class of Washington C. H. High School spent Tuesday in Cincinnati finding out all about farm cooperatives and how they function.

The field trip was sponsored by the Ohio Farm Bureau which furnished transportation for the 14 boys, not to mention their noon meal. Dewey Huffman, High School Vo-Ag instructor, led the group which traveled in three autos. The other cars were driven by George Owen, Farm Bureau district feed field man and L. T. # Speaker Talks On "Bloodless Head-Hunting"

George Robinson Jr.
Tells Rotary Club
About Family Histories

George Robinson, Jr., who for many years has diligently pursued his special hobby of genealogy, checking on family histories and tracing ancestors and family names, proved a very entertaining speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday at the County Club.

Presented by the day's program chairman, Dr. I. L. Pumphrey, the speaker talked at length on the subject of "Bloodless Head-Hunting," explaining the pleasure to be derived in checking on the forebears of many people in this community and others who had sought his help and experience.

ROBINSON'S remarks proved highly interesting to those in his audience; he selected name after name among those present and disclosed historical references relative to their ancestors.

He stated that Ohio, is perhaps the most typically mixed up "melting pot" of any of our states with reference to names. He mentioned family names as Brandenburg, Dice, Fogle, Gerstner, Haigler, Himmelsbach, Campbell, McDonald, Carpenter and others, briefly tracing their lineage, religious connections and other matters of interest back into immigrant days.

He told how to go about this "head-hunting" for those who wish to delve into family history, explaining that many times it required countless interviews with old inhabitants, checking family Bibles, diaries, newspapers, court and church records, family letters and even visiting old cemeteries to inspect tombstones. He declared that curiosity could prove a great asset because the more one probed into history of some name, his enthusiasm increased.

THE FAMILY NAMES of Creamer, Carr, Johnson, Stooker, Allen, Cline came into his talk and he mentioned some personal experiences in checking upon names at the request of various people.

Robinson's remarks presented a different type of program from anything the Rotarians here had enjoyed in years and he was accorded the closest attention.

President George Finley in thanking him said that here again was another example of how a local speaker could present a subject often times more interesting than many an outside speaker could offer.

During the pre-program business session of the club Walter Patton introduced the newest student guest Lyle Self. The outgoing student who has been present during the past two weeks, Micheal Boylan gave a short talk in expressing his appreciation in being a club guest.

President Finley called attention to some extensive publicity received by Paul Dougherty and W. W. Montgomery in the last issue of the Farm Journal, an agricultural publication with wide coverage. The feature about Dougherty, accompanied by his picture showing his genial grin, was in connection with work in this rural district being done by the Bell Telephone Company.

The only Rotarian to receive a birthday greeting at this meeting was Walter Patton, who stood to hear the customary greeting song and incidentally to pay the usual fee to the club's youth fund.

DURING THE group singing, the director, William Clift, unexpectedly called Rev. Clinton Swengel, Colin Campbell and a club guest, Harry Thrallkill, to stand and join him in a quartet selection which was roundly applauded.

The only visiting Rotarian at this meeting was Rev. Sanford Lindsey of London. Other guests were George A. Robinson, Sr., father of the day's program speaker and a charter member of the Washington Rotary Club. He was brought to the meeting by Frank Jackson. Harry Thrallkill was the guest of Max Lawrence and Attorney Rollo Marchant was with Atty. Edmond Woodmansee.

There were 1,728 U. S. deaths caused by floods between 1934 and 1954 of which 1,153 came in the first half of the period and only 575 in the second half.

EVER COUNT 2,200 EGGS? That's what Miss Jane Jefferson (seated) and Mrs. Dana Hyer are setting out to do. They expect that many eggs to be served at the nurse's breakfast Saturday morning in the American Legion Hall. Members of the purchasing Committee, they are Mrs. Richard Patton and Mrs. Ray Coe are responsible for seeing that everybody goes away well filled. In addition to the 150 dozen eggs, they need to arrange for the purchase of 125 lbs. of ham and the same amount of sausage. Also on the menu will be fruit juice, all the coffee the breakfasters can drink, hotcakes, rolls, butter and jams and jellies. Some of the food is being contributed, but it is up to the four-nurse committee to see that enough of everything is on hand Saturday.

We are continuing today the section of the Board of Education's policies dealing with the miscellaneous regulations for teachers:

When certain deficiencies exist, even though a teacher has otherwise become eligible for a continuing contract, the teacher shall be notified of such deficiencies by the superintendent of schools as confirmed by the board on or before April 30th and shall be placed on a probationary basis for a period not to exceed two years.

Section 6.13 Termination of Contract: No teacher shall be permitted to terminate his contract after the tenth day of July of any school year, or during the school year prior to the termination of the annual session, without the consent of the Board of Education. A teacher is permitted to terminate his contract at any other time by giving five day written notice to the Board of Education.

Section 6.14 Dismissal: In the dismissal of teachers the superintendent shall notify the teacher of non-reappointment prior to April 30, in the case of teachers on limited contracts. In recommending dismissal of teachers on continuing contracts, the superintendent will follow the procedure required by law under the Ohio Teacher Tenure Act.

Section 6.15 Payment when Contract is not Fulfilled: Any Teacher leaving the employ of the Board of Education before the expiration of his contract shall be paid for the days actually taught. This payment is to be computed upon the daily rate, which is the annual salary divided by the number of days in the school year.

Section 6.17 Physical Examination: The superintendent may at anytime require of a teacher a certificate from a physician that he or she is physically and mentally qualified to continue efficiently the duties of a teacher in the Washington Court House Schools. The examination may be made by the teacher's own physician, but the board of education reserves the right to request that it be made by a physician designated by the board. If, when required, such a certificate is not secured, the teacher shall be considered ineligible for reappointment and shall be duly notified in writing. The expense of the examination made by the physician designated by the board of education shall be paid by the board.

Section 6.18 Extra-curricular activities: All teachers are expected to participate in and assume a reasonable amount of responsibility for such extra-curricular activities of the schools as shall be determined by the administration to be an essential part of the school program.

Section 6.19 Tardiness: Frequent tardiness of teachers shall be cause for loss of pay, according to the seriousness of the violation.

Section 6.20 Criticism of teachers: Teachers shall not be corrected or criticized under any circumstances, in the presence of pupils or patrons.

Section 6.21 Dismissal of Classes: Teachers shall be required to keep their classes in session during school hours and shall not dismiss them for any reason without the consent of the principal or superintendent of schools. Classes shall be dismissed promptly at the time set.

Union Makes Use Of Money As New Weapon

In connection with the recent "show-down" annual meeting of the stockholders of the Montgomery Ward organization business, a rather significant new Union weapon came in for some attention and comment.

It appears that some of the unions are using their large surplus funds to buy stock in some companies so as to be able to sit in upon elections and decisions of management. The unions apparently are gradually planning to be represented on both sides of the table.

Dave Beck, who seems to control the Teamsters' Union treasury funds, attracted attention in his move not long ago in using union funds to buy 13,500 shares of Ward stock. When the crucial time approached to vote this stock in the recent fight for control of the company, Beck played his cards smartly.

There was a time when Ward was so resistant to unions that one or more of its stores closed rather than sign a contract with a union.

Beck had been reportedly trying to negotiate a contract with Ward on a national basis and wasn't getting anywhere. It looked as if a strike would have to be called. But when Beck bought the stock he had a new weapon.

Ward's management has been engaged in a hot and heavy battle with a man named Louis Wolfson who is trying to seize control of the company.

The present management which won out in the recent meeting, at least temporarily, needs every shareholder it can get on its side. So when Beck showed up suddenly with 13,500 shares of stock, promising to vote those shares for present management if they would sign his contract, Ward signed. Buying the stock was cheaper for Beck than running a strike.

The agreement covers 15,000 warehouse employees of Ward across the nation. It calls for the teamsters to increase their holdings of Ward stock to 100,000 shares, all of which are to be voted in opposition to Wolfson. Thus here is a situation where a union helps to choose its employer.

More than a few are worried that this may be a forerunner of other moves by wealthy unions to use their capital as a means of influencing negotiations. The worriers include union leaders who don't like the idea of a union possibly negotiating against itself at the bargaining table.

Clasped Hands Now Fists

NEW YORK (AP) — The great fact of history 10 years after American and Russian soldiers shook hands gingerly on the River Elbe is that both sides now are shaking fists at each other.

The Allies whose handclasp in comradeship then sealed the doom of Adolf Hitler's ideology are now separated by mutually expressed doubts and fears. They say our ideology threatens them, and we say their ideology threatens us.

The dismal regret in the long view of time is that the wartime unity of the two greatest hemispheric powers has evaporated in a tug-of-war.

For the brief moment of that handclasp at Torgau there was one world, one common victory. All the blood and sweat and tears it cost were repaid in a splendid bright second.

And then everybody on both sides went back to being himself and there were two worlds. There have been two big worlds ever since.

Looking back across this crowded decade, I suppose it is wistfully foolish to think that one moment of unity could last forever. But surely all wars that end in a handclasp of strange allies must carry with it the hope in the tired hearts of all. "This is the last one. Surely now there won't be another."

I was among a group of war correspondents who covered the grand link-up meeting of the American and Russian armies at the Elbe.

It was sad then, and it is sad now to recall, how the purpose that had made us one disappeared day by day in the harsh discoveries of the differences between us.

We were an army that ate our own sanitary packages and dehydrated food and we moved in the vehicles that our own people back home had built for us.

The Russians moved across Germany like locusts, living on the land as they traveled, taking whatever they needed. They took bread from this house, a horse from this farmer, a wagon here, a car there.

They were people two generations behind the Americans in every way but one. Each soldier carried a modern snub-nosed multi-fire weapon. He was a hobo in a dirty baggy suit, but he had firepower, the firepower that had destroyed numerous but better-trained German armies.

When we met, we met warily. I suppose the average Russian soldier's first thought on seeing the first American soldier was,

"This guy looks pretty much like another German."

And I do recall a young officer saying after his first disbelieving sight of the Russians swarming across the landscape: "Is this a riot or an army?"

But we shook hands, and broke bread and beans, drank long draughts of whatever spirits our hoarded stores or the German countryside provided, and trusted each other enough to hand our weapons back and forth.

It was all done with friendly gesture and sign and pantomime, the eternal language of strangers. The war was done and we were one together.

What a brief high cliff of world goodwill we stood on. Such a peak of ecstasy! But when the bread had been broken, the wine drunk, and the relief of victory and weariness slept off, we woke up.

Ivan Ivanovich and GI Joe looked at each other and realized one was a Russian soldier and one was an American soldier, and that men may be men but armies are armies.

There was a gap between us in a new cold world. And the gap remains, despite the exultant handshake that linked our hearts and goals on the River Elbe.

He's Master Of Fine Art Of Lying

Harvey Matusow is a self-admitted liar and boasts both his ability and his capacity. Not being a psychiatrist, I cannot testify as to his conduct but take it for granted that all men are somewhat peculiar and Harvey very much so.

Harvey has now set himself up as an expert in lying and may open an office some day to advise those who require guidance in the art for a fee. He might even become famous as the first man who lied with pride, lied with joy in his heart, testified on how perfect a liar he is under oath before a Congressional committee and in a court of law. Why the committee listens to him after he swore that he had perjured himself is difficult to grasp, but suppose that a record must be made for posterity.

Matusow and his mentors have decided that he must not stand alone; so, he is trying hard to drag Roy Cohn down with him. The reason: Cohn helped to send the Rosenbergs to the electric chair; he helped to send William Remington to prison; he exposed the espionage cell in the United Nations, etc., etc. The way to get even with Cohn is to try to make him look like Matusow. So Matusow is set up as a liar and Cohn is made to be associated with him to establish guilt by propinquity.

In a brief which the United States Attorney in New York, J. Edward Lumbard, presented to the court in the case of United States v. Elizabeth Gurley Flynn et al. appears the answer to Matusow's allegations concerning Cohn. In fact, Judge Edward Dimock upholds, in his decision in the case this point of view: "According to Matusow, Cohn then began developing the false testimony with respect to the conversation with Trachtenberg. . . Matusow is uncertain as to when this false testimony was finally worked out in the form in which he testified, but he claims that the matter of the book and his conversation with Trachtenberg was discussed on numerous occasions with Cohn in the presence of other members of the prosecution staff and agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. . .

"It has not been conclusively established that Matusow's contentions with respect to this portion of his testimony are falsehoods from first to last."

Further the brief says: "Matusow's statements that Cohn and other members of the prosecution staff knowingly or otherwise assisted him in preparation of a allegedly false testimony concerning a conversation with Trachtenberg relating to the 'Law of the Soviet State' by Vinskiy are wholly belied both by the sworn testimony of all those who were at any time charged with his trial preparation as well as by contemporary documents dictated during the course of his preparation."

"This monstrous accusation that the testimony regarding Trachtenberg and 'Law of the Soviet State' was fabricated and masterminded by members of the prosecution staff, one of the main points relied upon by the defendants at this hearing, now shown to be a complete falsehood, so permeates the Matusow hearing testimony as to render all of it absolutely incredible."

Again, Matusow is shown to make false statements concerning Cohn: "Matusow claims that he first formulated the testimony with respect to this conversation with Charney (a defendant), which he now claims is false, on February 17, 1952 during a lengthy meeting with Cohn. The fact of the matter is that he had no such meeting with Cohn on that date or any other date between their one hour initial meeting in the car on December 19, 1951 and the time Cohn took over his trial preparation in May 1952. . .

The conclusion that Lumbard reaches is: "The choice of a scapegoat in the person of Roy Cohn is too obvious a tactic to merit further comment. The charge of subornation relating to a conversation with Trachtenberg about the 'Law of the Soviet State' made in such great detail and upon the truth of which defendants rest defendants' claim for relief is utterly false. The lie foisted upon the court premeates the entirety of Matusow's testimony at the hearing and renders it utterly incredible."

From all this it would appear that Harvey Matusow may have been resurrected by the communists in an effort to get Roy Cohn in order to teach a lesson to others not to send spies like the Rosenbergs to the electric chair. Otherwise why did they pay him to exhibit himself as the complete liar?

Student Pilot Crashes, Kills 4 In France

VALENCIENNES, France (AP) — A Royal Air Force training plane stolen from a station in Britain crashed about midnight in the nearby mining village of Vicq, killing at least four persons and seriously injuring two others.

Police said no trace of the pilot was found. He was a young RAF corporal. A ground crewman with only a student pilot's license, he had flown dizzily at low levels over London for nearly three hours last night before disappearing.

The British said he had no parachute and it was believed he also had died in the flaming wreckage of his plane, which destroyed one of the two houses it hit.

Three of the French were killed in their homes. They were a 10-year-old boy, his 9-year-old sister, and a 55-year-old woman. A man, 54, died later of injuries.

The plane was stolen last night from the Thorney Island Navigation School in Hampshire, England by the crewman who was tentatively identified as Nank Agnani. Agnani, 20, was a British subject who was born in Pakistan. The Air Ministry said he held a student pilot's license which required that he wear glasses while flying.

Air Force Plans Big GI Shuttle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force, as part of its plan to rotate whole units rather than individual soldiers overseas will settle two regiments of about 3,500 men each across the Pacific by air in July.

The 508th Airborne Regimental Combat Team will be sent from Ft. Campbell, Ky., to Japan, replacing the 187th Regiment, which returns to Ft. Bragg, N. C.

The census bureau estimates that U. S. population will reach 217 million in the next 25 years.

Diet and Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Remember those penmanship lessons you had back in elementary school?

I hope all of you bookkeepers, clerks and anyone else who has to do a lot of writing benefitted from them. If not, eventually you might develop writer's cramp.

Frequent Victims

Most often bothered by this condition are men between ages of 30 and 60 who make their living with a pencil or pen. Secretaries, however, usually aren't troubled by this occupational hazard if they use shorthand.

The first sign of writer's cramp occurs when you lose control of your pen or pencil occasionally and notice minor disfigurements in your writing.

You grip the pen tighter than is necessary and consequently your hand becomes tired easily and begins to ache. In time you won't be able to move your thumb or index finger freely enough to move the pen. By this time your writing is jerky. Unless you quite now, your entire forearm will be bothered as the muscles are stricken with spasms.

The cause of these cramps is simple: You're not writing correctly. Remember, the penmanship classes stressed the importance of moving your whole arm when you write.

If you write only by moving your thumb and index finger, or maybe your wrist, too, you're inviting trouble. By doing this, you throw the greatest strain on a small group of muscles.

Unfortunately, by the time you develop writer's cramp, it's usually too late to change your entire style of writing.

Rest is the best cure. You'll have to stop writing entirely for six months or so. Then, when you resume writing, use a broad pen point and a thick penholder.

Prevention Is Best

You can easily see that it is much easier and much less painful to prevent this situation than it is to cure it. If you're not writing correctly, you'd better change your ways while you can.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

C. C. J.: What would be the cause of an awful itching in the legs? I have taken treatment which gave no relief.

Answer: Itching eruption on the legs can come from many causes. It may be due to chemicals which come in contact with the skin, to irritation from cold or heat, to foods which are eaten, as well as to various infections. A thorough and complete examination by a skin specialist will determine just what is producing the trouble. Then the proper treatment for the condition can be suggested.

Iowa Area Still Likes Ike

WASHINGTON—A survey of public opinion in a typical and representative state—Iowa — indicates that the voters still like Ike's domestic and foreign program by about 60 per cent's worth. And if he can carry Iowa, which went for Harry S. Truman in 1948, Republican political experts believe that he can carry the country.

The canvass was conducted by Sen. Thomas E. Martin, former member of the House for the First Iowa District. Senator Martin defeated the able and popular Guy M. Gillette in one of last year's most remarkable election upsets.

Martin's former House district, whence most of the replies to his questionnaire came, lies in the southeastern corner of the state. It includes such a manufacturing and publishing city as Des Moines and many farm communities, where Henry A. Wallace's "tall corn" grows.

PERCENTAGE—The number of answers, about 15 per cent of the total, of Senator Martin's inquiries, exceed the percentage usually returned in this kind of poll.

About 35 per cent of the answers came from farmers, 20 per cent from factory workers, 20 per cent from business and professional people, and about 25 per cent from white collar and "miscellaneous" workers. It was a good, solid cross-section of Senator Martin's constituents, in his opinion.

As further evidence of the political worth of Senator Martin's sampling of sentiment, it is read with interest and possibly some anxiety by his colleagues on Capitol Hill. Many members, including those from distant sections of the country, look to it for voting guidance.

CONCERNS—The major worries of Senator Martin's constituents testify to their broad interests and intelligence. Although they live and labor in the nation's most abundant corn state, their chief concerns center on federal finances and oppressive taxation rather than national defense, the cold war with the Communists and declining farm income. Here, in the order of their rated importance, are their bread-and-butter bothers:

Government spending, taxation, national defense, war preparedness, control of communism in the United States, corruption in government, foreign

Pravda Says China Wants No U. S. War

MOSCOW (AP) — The Communist party newspaper Pravda said today the "Chinese people do not want war with the United States."

In an article from Bandung, Indonesia, Pravda said the "Chinese government is ready to start negotiations with the government of the United States to discuss the question of weakening tension in the Far East and especially in the district of Formosa."

This was the first time the authoritative Soviet newspaper had stated bluntly that the Chinese people do not want war over Formosa.

trade policies, the farm support price program, wartime and peacetime use of atomic energy, labor attitudes and policies of the Eisenhower Administration.

REACTIONS—Listed by major subjects, here are the reactions and reflections from this characteristic segment of the country on Senator Martin's questionnaire:

National Defense: Sixty six per cent favor a two-year draft, with the draftees subject to a redraft in an emergency for six years. Sixty-one per cent oppose universal military training, meaning six months of training and possible recall for duty for nine and a half years.

Foreign Policy: Eighty per cent generally approve the Eisenhower-Dulles program; but 63 per cent favor the Bricker Amendment. Almost 61 per cent want an end to foreign economic aid, but more than 62 per cent would continue overseas military assistance.

About 62 per cent oppose the exchange of atomic secrets with foreign nations, including NATO members. More than 85 per cent prefer private to government development of atomic energy for peacetime use. About 60 per cent would trade butter with Russia for manganese or other essential materials.

The vote for farm price supports on a 90 per cent parity basis was only 42.02 per cent. About 80 per cent oppose balancing of the budget by raising tax rates, and 74.62 per cent want a tax reduction before getting the budget in order.

West Shows Current Gains Against Communist Moves

(Editor's note — how goes the cold war? What is the significance of Communist setbacks among Europe's workers? Where are the dangers? What can the West expect? To get the answers, William L. Ryan traveled along the western edge of the Iron Curtain from France to Turkey. He coupled his own knowledge of Communist aims and methods with the best information from political and military officials. The AP foreign news analyst gives his findings in three articles of which this is the first.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst
PARIS (AP)—This is how the West can assess the cold war on the European front in this spring of 1955:

From the short-range viewpoint, the West has chalked up remarkable victories.

From the long-range view, the next two or three years will be critical and dangerous.

As the guns of World War II fell silent, communism sprang armed and militant from the ruins, feeding upon carnage and despair. Now, 10 years later, communism, as a Soviet-sponsored revolutionary movement, is loving its appeal among Europe's working people. Communist parties, stopped cold for some time, are being rolled back politically.

A military "no trespassing" line has been drawn across Europe and down through the Middle East. It has forced the Soviet Union to change its tune and its tactics. These tactics bear germs of further decay for the Red parties of the West.

This is a synthesis of the best opinion to be found in Europe at the moment: The West is winning battles. It can still lose the cold war.

One cannot escape the relatively recent upsurge of public confidence and optimism in Western Europe. For eight years, under the Marshall Plan, the Truman Doctrine and other names, the United States has been pumping new economic life and military stamina into Western Europe. Currencies have hardened. Standards of living have been rising.

If these trends continue, and if the Soviet Union is kept indefinitely from moving outside the Iron Curtain, then, in the opinion of many a Western observer, the beginning of decay will set in for the Communist movement in Europe as sponsored and directed by Moscow. But these successes, at the same time, have generated new factors. The new confidence and optimism bring an urge for relaxation.

"For the first time in the cold war," a highly placed Western spokesman told me, "time is on our side. In the next few years, our position with regard to the Soviet Union, politically, economically and militarily, should get better and better—provided we don't relax. We can't afford to relax now."

"Fear drove us into each other's arms and into the great experiment known as the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The new optimism generated in Europe by the fact that we are feeling militarily more secure all the time, plus the prospect of 12 German divisions being armed in Central Europe under our direction and control, has begun to set in motion a tendency to relax."

"To relax is dangerous. We may feel the Russians are not foolish enough to overestimate their abilities and move against us. But to gamble on that would be to take an awful chance."

The pre-ailing estimate of the Soviet regime is that it is a shrewd and logical one. The Russians have made a realistic survey of their situation. They may be expected to react in accordance with a realistic conclusion. The conclusion: Soviet communism cannot now think in terms of seizure of governments, particularly in the West. The cold war then must move to other fields—economic, social and diplomatic.

Soviet efforts in the diplomatic field are illustrated by the current gambit on Austria. The Russians have nothing to lose there and much to hope for in consenting to an independence treaty guaranteeing Austrian neutrality. Unlike Stalin, the present regime is able to take a Russian boot out of a door for long-range advantage.

Soviet efforts in the economic field dovetail with the diplomatic campaign. The present lure of trade for exporting Western nations—particularly West Germany, whose capacity far outdistances her ability to absorb her production. The able A. I. Mikoyan, Soviet trade expert, already is in charge of the program.

The Russians obviously intend that their move in Austria will have a strong effect in Germany, raising hopes that reasonable negotiations with the Soviet Union are possible. But, the Russians will hint, how can negotiations for reunifying Germany take place if Western Germany is building militarily in an alliance Moscow insists is pointed aggressively toward the Soviet Union? How can normal trade take place under such circumstances?

In the social cultural field, the Soviet Union will do all in its power to woo allies from all classes, regardless of Marxist dogma.

This program is pointed toward a short-term goal, to divide the United States from its Allies and to produce a passion for neutralism in Western Europe. While the West remains united, it is dangerous for world communism to move aggressively in any direction. Yet communism, a dynamic movement, must keep moving or stagnate.

How can the cold war be lost. Competent observers throughout Europe say the West will retain its advantage only in relation, first, to a continuing improvement of economic conditions and a steady rise in standards of living. But along with this, they say, there must be a public willingness to bear the cost of maintaining a constant alert. If Western unity should fall apart, soviet communism once again could be on the move.

How can the cold war be won? That is a more difficult question. I asked it of many statesmen and military leaders. All agreed the answer is not in the foreseeable future. All agreed it would be a long and wearing fight.

One man had a hopeful answer—a churchman who is one of the staunchest friends of the United States. The Patriarch Athenagoras, spiritual leader of all the Orthodox faith, including the Russian Orthodox, isolates himself from politics in his traditional seat in Istanbul, Turkey. But Athenagoras knows America well. He served 20 years as an archbishop in the United States.

The answer, said the patriarch, lies with America.

"Freedom with abundance—that is America," Athenagoras said. "She hears not only the peal of the liberty bell in Philadelphia, but also the bell from on high. It is given to the United States to show the world the way. That is the mission of America: To demonstrate to the world that freedom with abundance is possible. Then there will be peace."

Health For All

KEEP WALKING

The power failed. In the great city the millions of tiny hand cars that carried the people even the shortest distance from bed to breakfast table stopped moving. For a long time the people clung to the cars on which they depended, but hunger and finally panic set in. On hands and knees, they began to crawl in search of food and safety. Helpless, hopeless, they died by the thousands as their beautiful civilization ground to a halt.

Science fiction? Of course. A writer's dream of the future when man's feet have become as useless as his appendix.

Could it happen? Look out the window at a beautiful May day. You would not want to lose the power of walking down a country road or even a city street on such a day. But how often do you do it? Do you really walk, or just get around? If you started out right now, how soon would you tire? Muscles have to be used, or they lose tone and weaken. Our feet are a remarkably delicate assembly of small bones and muscles. To do their job, they must be kept at peak efficiency.

But, you say, I'm a housewife and I'm on my feet just about every minute the live-long day. You may be on them, but do you really use them? Do they carry you comfortably, or just shuffle along complaining at every step?

It is lucky that our feet do not suffer and grow weak without complaining. If they are in trouble, we get pain signals not only from the feet themselves but also from the back and the head. We feel tired all over.

We can prevent foot trouble by using correct walking methods. Take a good walk now and then, and when you do, use your whole body, and swing your legs from the hips. Always walk with your feet parallel, and put them down with the whole sole touching the ground. Shoes must be correctly fitted. If you only have to sit and look pretty, spike heels will do, but if your feet must work, low solid heels are the thing.

You may be the first to order one of those little machines to speed you through your household tasks, but let's keep the power of walking for pleasure with pleasure.

Chillicothe Team Is Edged by Lions

Although outbid by Chillicothe's Cavaliers, the Lions of WHS racked up their third baseball victory of the season on their home lot Tuesday afternoon by a 3 to 2 score.

The Lions not only made their three scattered hits count but also took full advantage of the Cavalier errors to nose out their guests from Ross County.

A tight defense and a bit of sharp strategy by Coach Jim Lipinski kept the Chillicothe boys in check, although they did have the Lions worried from the start.

The Lions put across the first run of the game in the third inning when Robinett drew a base on balls, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and came home on a sacrifice fly to right field by Grooms.

Grooms, incidentally, was credited with only one hit and did not score a run himself but was responsible to two of the three WHS tallies.

The Cavaliers took the lead in the next inning when Luvschmeyer walked but was out on a fielder's choice that put Gibson on first. G. Prohl sent Gibson to third with a single and they both scored on Herstein's single. But, Herstein was nipped trying to stretch his hit into a double.

The Cavaliers held that slim one-run edge until the fifth, when the Lions knotted the score when Mickie made the first of his two runs. His second run came in the sixth.

MICKIE TIED the score in the fifth when he circled the bases on three errors and a fielder's choice. He was safe on an error, went to second on an overthrow and took third when he beat the throw on the ball all afternoon. Lemon said after the game He credited fancy fielding with saving the game.

Cleveland scored its runs on Lemon's homer and a two-run homer by Bobby Avila.

Only 972 cash customers, 187 children, 127 ladies and one serviceman, a total of 1,287, braved the cold weather. It was the smallest crowd the Indians have played before since 1949 when 801 saw them in Chicago.

CHARLESTON — It took extra innings to decide the issue on two American Association fronts last night.

Minneapolis and Charleston battled into the bottom of the 12th frame before the Millers won a 10-9 nightcap verdict. The Senators also dropped the opener, 12-1.

Omaha beat Indianapolis 7-6 in 10 innings.

Toledo split with St. Paul while Louisville again arched Denver, 13-10. Five home runs carried Toledo to a 5-1 decision in the opener, and the Saints triumphed, 2-0, in the nightcap.

Redleg Chief Sees 'Vultures Buzzing'

BROOKLYN — Gabe Paul, general manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, said the "vultures have been buzzing me."

"They always do when your club is going poorly," he said good naturedly. "Think you might get panicky and dispose of a first-line player who is in a slump. But I'm not going to be stampeded into making a deal that could very easily backfire on us later on."

The seventh place Reds, losers of their last five games, were rained out last night but the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers quickly rescheduled the contest for tonight.

Charles, Holman Awaiting Match

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Edward Charles, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, and John Holman, a "hungry" fighter, square off here tonight in a 10-round bout, telecast at 9 p.m.

Charles, 33-year-old veteran of 100 fights, hopes to work his way back to a title shot at Rocky Marciano. He was beaten twice last year in attempting to dethrone the champion.

Holman, 27-year-old Chicago Negro, will be making his first start against a "big name" opponent. It will be his 38th fight in a 10-year ring career.

GAMES WASHED OUT

NCAA Puts Cincy, Oklahoma Universities On Probation

CHICAGO, (AP) — The NCAA cracked down on the Universities of Oklahoma and Cincinnati yesterday with a warning that the two clean up their athletic policies or face possible expulsion.

Oklahoma was placed on two years probation by the policy-making council of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Cincinnati was given one year probation and was ruled ineligible to participate in NCAA championship events.

No such clause was attached to Oklahoma's penalty, which means Oklahoma, perennial Big Seven football champion and a major grid power nationally, can participate in the Orange Bowl next New Year's Day if the Sooners win the conference title.

The council reprimanded three other schools and terminated the probation periods of two others.

One-year probationary sentences for Kansas State and North Carolina State for "athletic malpractices" were terminated effective May 7.

The University of Dayton (Ohio), Bethune-Cookman College of Daytona Beach, Fla., and Virginia Union University were reprimanded.

Dayton was reprimanded for holding a basketball tryout and the others two for engaging in the Tropical Bowl football game at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 12, 1953. The game was not certified by the NCAA.

The council reported it was found that Oklahoma staff members offered prospective student-athletes cost-free education beyond the athletes' normal period of eligibility.

The school also was accused of paying medical expenses for immediate families of student athletes, specifically the wives and children of such athletes.

The council said university patrons provided student-athletes "fringe benefits" in the form of clothes, miscellaneous gifts of cash and other gifts of relative nominal value.

Some members of the Cincinnati football coaching staff were found to have offered athletes aid in excess of that permitted by the university and the NCAA and to have provided transportation for prospective football players to visit the campus during the years 1951 through 1953.

Cincinnati President Raymond Walters blamed former Coach Sid Gillman, now of the Los Angeles Rams, for the practices which brought NCAA censure. He said the practices no longer exist.

Oklahoma President George L. Cross and Football Coach Bud Wilkinson said the NCAA's investigation failed to show "a single case of fraud or dishonesty" and described the probationary action as vindication for the Sooner athletic program.

Soviets Planning Trip To Moon

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio says Russia is considering a plan to explore the moon with a tank controlled by radio. It predicted lunar trips by human beings would follow in a year or two.

The broadcast said the 240,000-mile trip would be made in two stages. First, the space ship would be taken several hundred miles into the sky by rocket tugboats. Its own rocket engine would then be turned on by remote radio control to put it into an orbit around the earth. Rockets would next be sent up to refuel the space ship for the trip the rest of the way to the moon.

Detroit Kegler Cracks ABC List

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Chang-es in the leaders in the American Bowling Congress tournament continued on a small scale yesterday with only one young kegler crashing the first 10 in two divisions.

He was Jim Telfer, a 19-year-old Detroit student, whose efforts won him second place in the all events and a tie for ninth in the singles.

Young Telfer rolled games of 195, 259 and 235 for a 689 in the singles. His all events total was 1,964, only 29 pins back of the leader, Fred Bujack of Detroit.

Chilly Day Awaits Tribe In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Righthander Early Wynn makes his first start of the season for the Cleveland Indians today in what promises to be another chilly affair against the Washington Nationals.

The weather man says it will be a little warmer than yesterday's misty 48, when the smallest crowd in 10 years or more saw Bob Lemon beat the Nats 3-2.

So far this season, Wynn has pitched only two innings of relief against Detroit and five innings in an exhibition against Indianapolis. He was out at the start of the season with bronchial pneumonia.

Lemon, who won his fourth straight game, said it was too cold yesterday to work up a sweat and

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Color Screens for the Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Distributed by Central Press Association

SOMETIMES a quick growing vine is needed to cover a multitude of garden sins, especially in a new one. Annual vines usually are the answer. They grow quickly and compactly, their flowers transform them into color screens, and they are inexpensive.

Morning Glories have always been favorites for screening purposes. Popular varieties are Heavenly Blue, Pearly Gates, Scarlett O'Hara and Blue Star.

Now an unusual Morning Glory bids for fame. It is called Hearts and Honey vine. The characteristics of its bloom and foliage are shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph.

It is a fast growing vine and its ornamental, fern-like foliage is decorated with two-inch trum-

Rehabilitation At VA Hospital Described Here

Lions Club Speaker
Outlines Program At
Chillicothe Hospital

Eighty-six members and two guests were at the Country Club for the regular meeting of the Washington C. H. Lions club Tuesday evening.

Special honored guests of the evening were the past presidents of the club who are recognized each year in this way.

Six new members were formally inducted into the club by Howard Wright, Robert Minshall and Wayne Bower, president of the club. They were James P. Hutton, George S. Inskip, Howard McDonald, Horace L. Jacobs, Russell Hinchee and Ralph Bray. Bray was a former member of the club and, after returning to Washington C. H. was re-inducted.

Guests at the meeting were Stephen Sterling with William Thompson and Roy Drury of Chillicothe with Walter O'Brien.

The past-presidents at the meeting were Robert Sanderson, Emerson Marting, Fred Enslin, A. E. Weatherly, Robert Minshall, Walter Rettig, Paul Van Voorhis, Sam Parrett, Harold McCord, Walter O'Brien and R. B. Tharp.

Frank Ellis, co-chairman with John Sagar of the race matinee held Sunday gave the financial report of that project. Ellis reported a total net profit of $419.97 was earned for the clubs sight saving fund. This amount was considered very good in spite of the rain which fell in the area most of the day.

THE SPEAKER for the evening introduced by Walter O'Brien was Don Allison, the director of rehabilitation at the U. S. Veteran's hospital at Chillicothe.

Allison outlined the important work his department is doing in helping to teach veterans to live with themselves. He said "our work is not of curing the individuals but of teaching them in many different ways, such as, the use of physical therapy, corrective and occupational therapy, manual therapy, school and research therapy."

In describing each step Allison said, physical therapy takes in brain surgery and the use of shock treatments. Good results are achieved in some cases.

In corrective therapy he said, "we employ physical work which helps to ease a person's mind."

Occupational therapy includes teaching the many handicrafts that men can do when properly instructed.

Manual therapy is the use of heavy milling machines and the like.

"In our school we offer grade school, high school and college courses, and our research therapy is new and yet untested," he said.

In summing up the work for these patients but with the use of these therapeutic systems we have been able to restore many patients who formerly would have been lost to society."

Elmer Reed gave a report of the nominating committee for new officers to lead the club, effective with installation of officers in June. Those to be voted upon at the next meeting are for: president, Dustin Gorton; first vice president, John Breiner; second vice president, Norris Highfield; third vice president, Ray French; Omar Schwartz and Eddie McCoy; secretary, Tom Mark.

Cut from Taxes Received Here

County Gets $111,459
In State Distribution

Fayette County Tuesday received two checks totaling $111,459.

All of this money came from the state auditor's office which is now distributing a grand total of $28,862,410 to counties and their registration districts from 1955 motor vehicle license fees.

This first advance distribution of the fees represents 86 percent of the total collected. The money will be divided as follows: 47 percent to counties, 34 percent to districts of registration, and 5 percent to an equalization fund from which each county receives $19,300.

Last year's first distribution amounted to $17,366,269.

County auditors will send out the registration districts shares. Checks going to counties, exclusive of their standard $19,300 share, include:

Clinton, $101,041
Fayette, $92,159.
Hocking, $61,504
Pickaway, $95,771.
Van Wert, $94,429.

Part of the money, County Auditor Ulric Acton said, will go to Washington C. H. and other municipalities in the county. The rest will be kept by the county. The money will be distributed thus: Washington C. H., $20,884.84; Bloomingburg, $1,065.56; Jeffersonville, $1,006.06; Milledgeville, $225.42; New Holland, $38.08; and Oeta, $8.50.

Fayette County's share will be $68,930.91. Which all totals $92,159—the amount of one check received.

The other check for $19,300 represents the 5 percent equalization fund. Each county in the state receives that amount which is based on basic operational expenses.

All of the money received by county, city and villages is earmarked for maintaining and repairing streets, highways and roads. Each village and city takes care of its own streets with the money Acton expects to send to them very shortly.

Acton incidentally, just returned to work Monday after a lengthy bout with pneumonia.

Mrs. Lizzie Buck Called by Death

Built Up Business
Over Half Century

Mrs. Lizzie Buck, 95, who built the Buck Greenhouses here into a thriving business, died at her home, 1003 North North Street at 6:50 P. M. Tuesday. She had been seriously ill for only about a day.

She had been in failing health for several years, but there were few days when she was not at the Greenhouses to see how things were going and offer suggestions.

Despite the years and her physical frailty, Mrs. Buck was the guiding genius of a big and complicated business enterprise.

A native of Circleville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Davenport, she and her husband, Robert Buck came to Washington C. H. just 50 years ago and started a greenhouse. It was a small beginning and Mrs. Buck was left alone with the infant business when her husband died not long after they established it. However, with her energy, determination, sound business judgement and most of all, her artistry with flower arrangements, the business grew and prospered.

MRS. BUCK was a retiring woman, but she had hundreds of friends in all walks of life who she remembered at birthdays, holidays and times of sickness with bouquets of flowers she had fashioned herself. What she did for her friends in other ways will never be known, for she never mentioned it and she kept no records of it.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church here and a faithful supporter of it.

Her closest surviving relatives are a niece, Mrs. John Turner in Boston, and a nephew, George Davenport Kratz in Greenwich, Conn.

However, her constant companion, both at home and at the greenhouses, was Mrs. Ragna Stenmar, a native of Denmark. She was like one of Mrs. Buck's family and made her home with her for a number of years.

Helge R. Petersen, also a Dane has been the active manager of the greenhouses, for many years.

Funeral services are to be conducted at 2 P. M. Friday at the residence on North Street by Rev. Harold Braden, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Interment is to be in the Circleville Cemetery under the direction of the Gerstner Funeral Home here.

Friends may call after noon Thursday at the residence.

Everett Milstead Laid Up With Injury

Everett Milstead is still laid up at his home with a severe bruise on his leg as the result of an unusual accident in his Dunlop Tire Shop on Market Street.

He explained that he was working on the new tire capping equipment Monday when a bar in a whirling wheel hit his left leg. He was taken to Memorial Hospital for treatment, but that an X-ray examination showed no bones broken.

Milstead said the injury was very painful but that he hoped to be back at his normal routine soon.

Warmer Weather After Quince Winter

The warmer weather Wednesday came after a brief "quince winter" or short cold snap which arrived Sunday night following a series of rains and storms throughout the mid-west.

Inasmuch as quince trees are now in bloom, the cold weather this week may well have been called "quince winter".

The term has long been applied to cold snaps at the time the quince trees are blooming.

Virgil C. Duff Dies In Dayton Hospital

Virgil C. Duff, 56, former Waterloo Pike farmer, died suddenly Wednesday morning at Miami Valley Hospital in Dayton.

Mr. Duff, who had been living at 108 Center Street, Dayton, is survived by two sons, Donald C. Duff of Millersport and William H. Duff of the U. S. Army stationed in France; two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Athey and Mrs. Anna Belle Certier, both of Washington C. H.

Also surviving are a brother Roscoe of Waterloo Pike and five granddaughters.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete at the Parrett Funeral Home.
